The 'Wild West'

Cow Palace Show Has Traces Of Nostalgia

By WILL THOMAS

The Silver Anniversary edition of the Grand National rodeo, horse show and livestock exposition at Daly City's venerable Cow Palace — beckoned many a dormant childhood "dream" when it opened its ten-day run last Friday night. "Saga of the West" is what the arena show's called, and if you shut your eyes and put your memory glands to work, you can induce at least a couple of visions of the Wild West thrillers, the cowboy greats who toured the small towns like when I was a kid.

Perhaps you can conjure up only the cowboys and Indians games you played . . . or the dream that you wanted to be a "cowboy when I grow up." (No one does that anymore, I guess.)

Somewhere in the audience of 14,000 persons there probably were those who even remembered the real, live Indians of their youth.

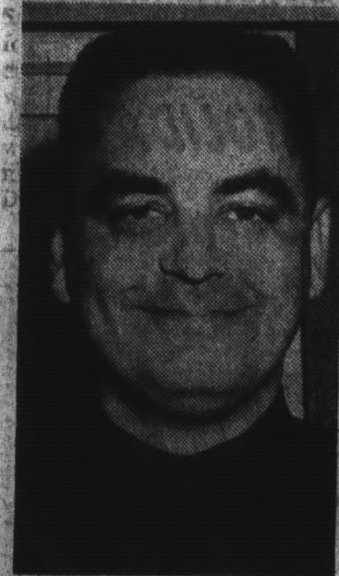

For today's youngsters, the "Saga of the West" gives a smattering of that past . . . the dignified chief, his squaw and papooses (and what a marvelous, colorful Indian dance that is!) . . . the settlers—dusty and saddle-worn (brought that up from one of the dreams) . . . the chuck wagons and longhorn cattle . . . the cowboys and the rustlers.

There is a startling exhibition of rope twirling that wows 'em on all sides of the Palace.

The Golden State Rodeo Company's production has a slight TV twist to it . . . and, well, you gotta have some laughs at these things, too!

Three other specialty acts in the arena show are as fantastic as any we've seen . . . Earl Wharton's pair of sheep dogs—one of 'em ridden by the amazing "wetback" cowboy (what a sight, that half-pint cowpoke!) . . . Jerry Olson's awesome buffalo, Pat — highly trained, remarkable (just before this one someone on my left judged, "They're so STUPID; we used to have the neighbor's buffaloes in our front yard all the time; they're SO stupid!") . . . and who could imagine anyone getting six huge Clydesdale draft horses doing anything but getting underfoot?

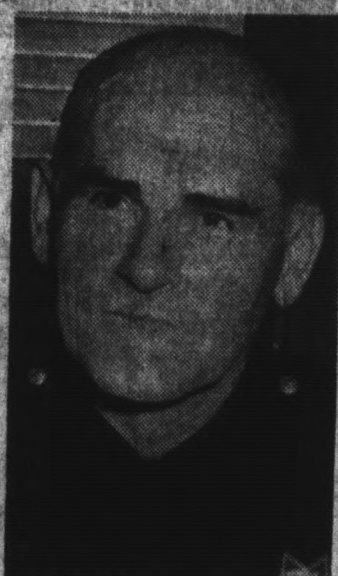

Cow Palace Mgr. George Strathearn, among first-night spectators, echoed his pleasure with the arena show. "We could have had the Hollywood celebrity," he noted, "Please See Page 2, Column 4."

Three Seek 2 Broadmoor Police Commissionerships

Three Broadmoor residents, including one incumbent, are in the running for two Broadmoor Police Protection District commissionerships to be voted on November 4.

They are incumbent Kevin McDonald, a former police officer who owns and operates an ambulance service; John F. McCloskey, Jr., a real estate broker; and William J. Noonan, who is presently secretary and an active member of the Broadmoor Police Reserves.

Noonan is a member of the Board of Directors of the Broadmoor Property Owners' Association and is a former vice-president of that group. He is a member of the I.A. of M. Local 1865 and has lived in Broadmoor 11 years.

McCloskey, 32, has lived in the police protection district for seven years, and is a past president of the Downtown Merchants' Association of South San Francisco, past state director of the California Junior Chamber of Commerce, past member of the Board of Directors of the Broadmoor Property Owners' Association and a member of the San Francisco Real Estate Board.

He and Noonan are former Marine Corps non-commissioned officers.

McDonald has been a member of the Daly City-Colma Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors, a member of the Daly City-Colma Exchange Club, a member of the San Mateo County Emergency Care Committee, and a member of the I.B. of T. Local 287.

He has been a Broadmoor police commissioner for the past three years and a member of the police reserves in the unincorporated area for two years.

A San Bruno Pool Hall Is Behind 8-Ball

By BOB PETERSON

It'll be at least 90 days before Ronald Sowma knows whether a business license will remain in his possession. In the meantime, business as usual will continue at his establishment at 423 San Mateo Avenue, San Bruno.

The establishment is a billiard parlor.

Sowma was issued a license pending the approval of both the fire and police departments at the October 13 council meeting.

In their pre-council caucus session Monday night, City Manager Gerard Verger informed the councilmen of a note he had received from Police Chief Russell Cunningham.

Verger said there had been complaints from merchants in the neighboring area, and a general dissatisfaction with the type of clientele frequenting the establishment.

In his note to Verger, Chief Cunningham indicated that the hours of operation would remain from 11 a.m. until 2 a.m. seven nights a week.

However, officers would be stopping by day and night for the next three months. They would be checking out the parking area to prevent loitering and property damage.

If there is no change in the caliber of persons within this 90-day period, the chief will recommend to the councilmen that the business be closed.

D.C. EYE BANK

America's First Still Helps

By FRANK LAPIERRE

America's first eye bank was founded 30 years ago in Daly City and has since provided sight to countless thousands throughout this country and Canada.

One of the original founders of the eye bank, G. H. K. Hanson, still works for the organization from a small cramped office located in a private residence at 846 Bellevue Street.

His wife, Anne, works at his side, helping to maintain the now-burgeoning files which contain the names and "pledges" of more than 7,300 people who want to donate their eyes upon death to the Dawn Society Eye Bank.

That's a substantial increase over the 153 pledges the struggling Dawn Society boasted of on September 1, 1943, Hanson explains.

Between the Dawn Society and the University of California Medical Center there are some 50,000 eyes pledged, Hanson said.

And there are double that many people waiting to receive them, the retired contractor-cornea expert said.

The Dawn Society began modestly in 1938 after a local lodge of the Good Templar Order heard of the plight of two blind men — one a Berkeley minister and the other a Sacramento resident.

The two men — Arthur Morton and the Reverend U. E. Harding — went to the San Francisco offices of Dr. Martin Green on Bush street for examination after being told that surgeons in Austria had successfully transplanted corneas for the past 40 years.

But the hangup was the lack of volunteers willing to donate their eyes after death to the cause.

Bay Area newspapers carried the story.

It was decided by the Good Templars forming the Dawn Society that their mission was to secure pledges for eyes. This (Please See Page 2, Column 1)

Bruno Naval Unit's Future Is Uncertain

A undetermined number of civilian and military jobs in a San Bruno Naval facility and in other Bay Area military facilities will be affected by the military cutback announced on Monday by the Pentagon.

Sources in Washington indicated that nearly 4,000 civilian jobs in California would be eliminated or transferred to other areas through the cutbacks.

The only Peninsula operation so far known to be affected is the Western Facilities Engineering Command (Naval) in San Bruno.

According to Associated Press, reduction or closure of the San Bruno facility is contemplated with transfer of 108 out of 206 civilians now with the Naval Facilities Engineering Command in Seattle's Northwest division to Western Division headquarters in San Francisco, as that office is consolidated with the Western division headquarters.

However, San Mateo County's Congressman Pete McCloskey told The Post on Tuesday that the cutback will have only minor impact here. He said six jobs — five civilian and one military — will be eliminated at the San Bruno facility, and two separate Naval offices will be consolidated. "Career individuals affected in San Bruno will be protected under a directive giving priority rights," he added.

Drugs: D.C. Cites Concern — But No Citizens Committee

The Daly City Council made it crystal clear Monday that it was deeply concerned with the current drug problem in the city, but continued to be opposed to formation of a "citizens committee" to look into the matter.

Mayor Bernard (Bud) Lycett said four members of the council last week expressed dissatisfaction with the proposed 20 member committee for two reasons.

The "time element" did not give the committee sufficient time to study the problem and report back to the council with capable answers. Councilman Michael DeBernardi, who made the drug abuse committee suggestion, said committee members should be selected by early November and report back to the council with their findings by February 1—slightly more than a month before the municipal elections.

Secondly, the method of selecting persons to serve on the committee was disagreeable to the mayor, prompting him to state earlier that he was not heated discussion was the appearance of Mrs. Sam Krips, a housewife, who verbally lashed the council — with the exception of DeBernardi — for their supposed lack of concern on the rising drug problem.

Mrs. Krips singled out Councilman Frank Paeell and Ed-ward J. Dennis, along with Mayor Lycett, for their opposition to the committee, making personal comments to each that (Please See Page 2, Column 6)

A Daly City Boy, Dog Bite Victim, Takes Shot Series

An 11-year-old Daly City boy was today undergoing a painful series of anti-rabies shots after an intensive two-county search failed to find the dog that bit him on the back two weeks ago.

Patrick Dennis, son of Mrs. Virginia Dennis of 85 Rockridge Road, was being given the 15 shot series at Kaiser Hospital in San Francisco.

A panel of San Mateo county physicians advised the mother earlier that Patrick should undergo the series after all efforts to find a black Labrador retriever with a noticeable limp failed.

The suspect dog ran up to Patrick at the Thomas Edison Elementary school playground some two weeks ago and bit him. The dog then ran off before witnesses could grab him.

After lengthy consideration of the situation, Mrs. Dennis decided to have Patrick take the shots.

"He is taking them in the stomach. After each shot big welts appear. Each day the pain grows worse," Mrs. Dennis told The Post Monday.

There is, however, no cure for rabies — either in animals or humans. Death is painful — and extremely slow.

"We have had so many calls from persons who want to help us. I only wish they would find that dog," the mother said.

The shots can be called off at any time if the animal is found.

they did and the operation on both men was considered a tremendous success.

As a matter of fact, Reverend Harding went off to Canada to preach and Morton went back to Sacramento and was able to drive a car with the help of spectacles.

DUG IN

From that point on, the society and Hanson really dug in.

Thousands of leaflets were mailed out and the small group of members "borrowed from everyone good for a dollar or two."

"We started with $50 and had about seven cents left after our first printing," Hanson recalls.

Besides picking up the hospital bill for those persons who cannot pay, the Society now gives the U.C. Medical Center an annual grant of $4,000 for eye projects.

The society really "got off the ground" after a Reader's Digest story appeared in that nationally distributed magazine in 1943.

Each year in mid-September the society sells seals carrying their motto: "That the blind may see."

"At first it was a small operation, but in recent years the seals have increased to 50,000 a year. That's as high as we are going to go," Hanson said.

The Swedish immigrant, assisted by his wife who is a native of Switzerland, has a rather complex job in his position as secretary of the society.

MOVE FAST

He must move — and fast — to any place in the state to pick up the eyes of a donor and rush them back to the U.C. Medical center for transplant.

The corneas must be removed and sealed in a special container within six hours after death and transplanted within 24 hours.

The effectiveness of modern jet airliners proved out recently when six cornea were shipped to Montreal, Canada via New York. Five of the six worked successfully after the operations.

Hanson said the society works with other eye organizations and hospitals throughout the country, donating from their bank cornea needed by groups such as the Lions Eye Foundation.

And they work at all hours. "Most people die between midnight and 4 a.m., our records indicate," Hanson pointed out.

Regardless of the time of day or night, Hanson — a healthy 74-year-old — must rush to the hospital with the signed pledge, pick up the eyes in a special container and rush them to whatever hospital is waiting with a recipient.

LIKE POSTMAN

Like the postman of yesterday, nothing has stayed Hanson in his rounds during the past 30 years.

An unusual midnight phone call roused Hanson from a deep sleep some ten years ago.

The caller — a young Santa Monica woman — said she had pledged her eyes to the society and "you can have them in about four hours."

Hanson insisted on knowing what the woman was dying from and it was finally ascertained she was bent on taking her own life.

The talk went on for "quite some time" before she hung up, still possessed with suicide.

Hanson immediately called Santa Monica police, told them what happened and where she lived (information received from the pledge card) and they arrived in time to save her life.

NOW MARRIED

"She got married and now has children, she writes every Christmas," Hanson noted.

The society is composed of six officers: Holger Benson (president); Albin Sandstrom (1st vice president); Ester Ekberg (2nd vice president); Gunnar Soder (treasurer) and the Hansons.

The Board of directors meets every three months and includes Betty Sandstrom, Magda Soder, John Swanson, Bada Benson and Ruth Lind.

bore little connection to the issue a hand.

At one point, after Councilman Dennis informed her of his many years on the board and how matters of this magnitude were usually discussed informally in open council study sessions first, Mrs. Krips remarked, "Perhaps you've been on the council too long."

D.C. Woman Flees Police Amid Bullets

A fusillade of bullets fired by police from two cities failed to stop a Daly City woman after she allegedly tried to run them down on a quiet residential street in San Francisco Sunday.

Nine slugs hit the suspect's car while several others scattered about the neighborhood, one smashing into the radiator of an auto waiting at a stop light on Ridgewood and Joese streets.

The one-sided "shootout" began shortly after 6 p.m. at the corner of Parkview and Junipero Serra Boulevard when a car driven by Patricia Paulsen, 33, of 140 Miriam Street, Daly City, was being approached by Officer Robert Jordan on foot.

Jordan said the woman had made a minor traffic violation and he was checking it out.

Instead of waiting, however, Miss Paulsen sped off towards San Francisco with Officer Jordan in hot pursuit.

After a high speed chase through streets in the St. Francis Woods section, San Francisco and Daly City police were successful in halting the car.

Three passengers — all teen-aged boys — jumped from the suspect car and fled, however, police arrested them near the scene minutes later.

Miss Paulsen restarted her engine and tried to escape the blockade, almost hitting Jordan in the process. The lawman pulled his gun and fired a warning shot, but the suspect continued to flee the area, Jordan reported.

Councilman Tony Giamonna, a teacher at Westmoor High School, informed Mrs. Krips she had been misinformed regarding the council's stand, and again pointed out those opposed to the committee as suggested by DeBernardi were not trying to sweep the drug problem under the carpet, but were vitally interested in finding an answer.

To this end, Giamonna said, he was attempting to get the police, school officials and other "resource people" together to find the right answers.

Mrs. Krips, however, retaliated by noting it was Councilman Giamonna — not her — that didn't understand what she had been saying.

"My daughter comes home and tells of drugs being sold in the hallways at Westmoor," she said.

Disturbing What "disturbs" councilman Pacelli more than anything else was the timing of the whole matter — from committee formation to the schedule for turning in the committee's findings and recommendations.

Pacelli later said such a report would require more than 30 days to get in "and frankly, with the holidays coming up, that's all they would have."

The councilman, who was slapped by Mrs. Krips for labeling DeBernardi's suggestion

"political namby pamby" because of its deadline date and the upcoming April elections said there were many groups now working on the drug problem, including the P-T-A schools, and mental health units.

The councilman had his own suggestion on the matter: From a group of knowledgeable and responsible people which could later spin off into other groups.

These "spin off" groups would first be trained regarding what to look for and what the law dealing with the subject were.

Proposal DeBernardi's proposal centered around a core of 20 people from a cross section of the community.

He earlier stated the function of this "drug abuse committee" would be a sort of "clearing house" for information gathered in given areas of the city.

He noted that some people were afraid to approach police, but probably would not be adverse to telling a committee member about happenings in his area.

The drug committee was scheduled to be brought up during next Monday night's public study session and Mayor Lyce invited interested persons to attend the session.

In attendance will be police experts, mental health and school officials.

'Zodiac' Fear Expressed In D.C.'s Southern Hills

(Earlier Stories, Page 31)

Parents living in the Southern Hills section of Daly City Monday expressed concern for the welfare of their children riding school buses in the wake of a coded threat made by the so-called Zodiac killer to stop a school bus and shoot the children one by one.

In a letter to the council, the Southern Hills Homeowners' Association asked the city to provide police escorts along the route of travel, plus a standby patrol while children are being loaded at schools in their respective areas.

City manager David Rowe said that because of limited manpower within the police department it would be "almost impossible" to provide constant observance of the numerous school buses around the city.

He said the city had met with school officials shortly after the Zodiac threat was made last week to go over plans on how to provide the best protection with the number of police available.

Mayor Bernard (Bud) Lyce, with the backing of the council, promised representatives of the Association to look into the matter "right away."

According to the emergency plan, the city would insure the emergency response of a one-man patrol in the event of a blast.

Gunmen Hold
Up Manager

Two gunmen held up the manager of the Kentucky Fried Chicken Restaurant outside the First National Bank on Mission Street Saturday night as he was making a night deposit and fled with an undetermined amount of cash and checks.

Police said Andy Akers, of 311 Madrone, Millbrae, was taking the restaurant's receipts to the bank when the pair walked up, brandished a small automatic pistol, and grabbed the money pouch shortly after 8 p.m.

Petitions For Husband

By BOB PETERSON

The family of Lt. Everett Alvarez, who has been a prisoner of war in Vietnam for the past 5 years, named Thanksgiving Day as the deadline for signing petitions for his release.

Close to 10,000 petitions containing some 40,000 signatures have been collected. The petition asks President Richard Nixon to take more positive action to obtain the release of Lt. Alvarez specifically, and other prisoners of the Vietnam conflict.

The Navy's pilot's wife, who lives in Santa Clara, intends to carry the petitions to the President personally this December.

On the Peninsula, Mrs. Albert Sanchez, of 2350 Evergreen Drive, San Bruno, has been spending at least four hours a day since the latter part of September getting signatures on the petitions. She said she is seeking volunteers to aid in the effort. She and her husband have about 100 petitions out at the present time.

Her husband, an architect in San Francisco, is a first cousin to Lt. Alvarez. Their mothers are sisters.

"Actually," said Mrs. Sanchez, "they are more like brothers. They grew up together in Salinas and were roommates in college at Santa Clara."

Lt. Alvarez was shot down on his first combat mission over the Gulf of Tonkin, August 5, 1964, and has been held prisoner ever since. It has been confirmed that he is alive. His wife, a bride of four months when her husband shipped over, receives a letter from him three or four times a year.

"We know he is alive," said Mrs. Sanchez. "The last letter, about a month ago, said he was fine."

According to Mrs. Sanchez, the wife of the captive waited patiently for her husband's return before deciding that "sitting back won't help."

During a family gathering, which is common in this close-knit group, the decision was made to take concrete action. An aunt drew up the petition. The long struggle, originating in Salinas, began in mid-September.

Other members of the family, incidentally, who served in the military have returned home since Lt. Alvarez's incarceration.

The family members at first went out with three petitions. Petitions have since been signed in approximately 50 cities up and down the state.

"We hope it will do good," said Mrs. Sanchez. "We just felt we couldn't sit back and let nothing happen. Whenever the family gets together, Everett is on our mind."

"At first we wrote to congressmen," she said. "Then we thought, why not get a petition started and take it to the President. It started out small, but really mushroomed. The response has been fantastic."

There is no doubt in the minds of the family members that the lieutenant's wife will be able to speak with the President personally. A "very nice" letter has been received from a presidential aide acknowledging that the President is aware of the situation.

More than one congressional representative has offered to make an appointment with the resident in order to present the petition. That isn't the way the family wants it.

"Many organizations would like to sponsor our efforts if they can get their name mentioned," said Mrs. Sanchez. "We have refused. This is to remain a family endeavor. We've refused offers of money too."

Mrs. Sanchez pointed out that it was a German newspaper that first notified the family Lt. Alvarez was alive. "For three months after that our government listed him as missing in action," she said.

Although not certain, Mrs. Sanchez said she believes a family in Louisiana, and a Southern California woman, have circulated similar petitions. "We have no idea how successfully," said Mrs. Sanchez, indicating part of the family effort is to work toward enabling the International Red Cross to inspect the prisoner of war camps.

One bit of fateful irony stays with Mrs. Sanchez, who has three daughters, the oldest being Lt. Alvarez's goddaughter.

"I was expecting my second child when he left," she said sadly. "He jokingly said that if it wasn't a boy, he wasn't going to come home."

ANOTHER SIGNATURE—Mayor Frank Bertucelli of South San Francisco signs the petition being circulated by Mrs. Albert Sanchez seeking the release of Lt. Everett Alvarez from a North Vietnam war prison.

Sirens Will Be Tested

Civil Defense sirens will be tested throughout San Mateo and Santa Clara Counties at 11 a.m. on Friday.

These sirens are part of the nation-wide warning system, and are tested periodically to insure their readiness in an emergency.

According to Area Civil Defense Coordinator, James V. Fitzgerald, the test will consist of a one minute steady blast followed by a period of silence, then a one minute wavering blast.

If sirens are used in real emergency situations, blasts would be much longer, from three to five minutes in length.

A steady blast is the alert signal and is used to warn of an impending non-war caused emergency such as potential tidal wave or flooding danger.

A wavering blast is the attack warning signal and would indicate that an enemy attack upon the country had been detected.

Supervisor Fitzgerald has urged all residents to have a plan of action in mind for each of the various emergency situations which might arise in their area. He advises that the Area Disaster Organization in the County Office Building, Redwood City, is continually available to all who would like information about handling disaster situations.

Trip Abroad Is Endorsed

The El Camino High School band definitely has the vocal endorsement of South San Francisco councilmen and could possibly receive monetary help for their scheduled trip to Germany.

City Manager Tom McKenzie was instructed to prepare a report for the November 3 council session as to whether funds can be made available.

South San Francisco resident Ron Acosta, 433 Newman Drive, broached the subject to the councilmen.

"The problem is funds," he said. "The band will be taken care of once they get there. We must come up with the fare."

Acosta, who has a son in the band, and another man, indentifying himself as Jim Baker of 359 Gardendale Avenue, indicated they were in the process of setting up a non-profit organization to raise money.

"Initially $16,000 would have covered the fare," said Acosta. But since obtaining the invitation to visit Germany, the band has been asked to visit Russia also. If they go to Russia, the cost would be $25,000."

Acosta pointed out that the band will be soliciting funds through raffles and concerts. Baker said the United States Department of State might even possibly become involved in sending the youngsters overseas.

Broadmoor Citizens to Seek Incorporation Again

By WILL THOMAS

Members of the Broadmoor Property Owners' Association are hoping to win a December re-hearing of their application to incorporate.

This, and the information that on the November 19 Local Agency Formation Commission mission might hear a petition from the association to waive the year normally required to wait following rejection of the first incorporation application, was relayed to some 80 member BPOA members Thursday at the Garden Village School.

Attorney Quentin Kopp, recently hired to represent the BPOA Board of Directors in the incorporation matter, said, "Indications are LAFCO will waive the one-year waiting period."

Without the waiver, it was explained, the members from Broadmoor, Sterling Park, Garden Village and other Colma-unincorporated areas who favor incorporation would have to wait until after June, 1970, to refile an application.

Both Kopp and association president Al Ichler stressed the "importance" of resident presence at LAFCO meetings involving Broadmoor-Colma petitions and applications.

Kopp said there were indications that should LAFCO approve the waiver, the Colma-unincorporated matter might come up for hearing "on its merits" in December.

What is being sought, said Kopp, is "the ability to decide for yourselves whether you want to incorporate as a separate entity."

Kopp said previous reports should be "augmented and clarified."

He said the residents generally "had a good case" in its campaign to vote upon the incorporation matter. Kopp declared that he thought there "were serious deficiencies from the due process standpoint" in the way LAFCO handled the previous application that was denied last June.

In answer to questions, Kopp noted that there have been no appeals of any trial court decisions regarding provisions of the state law that created and governs LAFCO; that decisions of a trial court are not binding on others without appellate court rulings.

In seeking a waiver for rehearing, the association must "show good cause," Kopp said, and previous due process deficiencies and assertions that a new financial report was ignored by LAFCO, would make up a part of the "basis."

The only avenue of appeal to residents, should LAFCO again deny the citizens the right to vote, would be through the San Mateo County Superior Court, Kopp pointed out.

Someone in the audience

wanted to know if, perhaps, in the light of previous unsuccessful attempts, the association was being "fed down a primrose path."

Kopp replied that he wasn't for one, explaining that he would not have accepted the case if he discerned that financial figures did not support the incorporation bid.

On the other hand, Kopp admitted that he could not speak as to whether or not, as property owners, they should incorporate.

Ichler said Colma-unincorporated was fighting

"piece-meal annexation" and that incorporation would protect boundaries.

Fire Damages D.C. Kitchen

Fire of undetermined origin damaged a kitchen and caused heavy smoke damage throughout an upstairs apartment occupied by Melvin Schroeder, his wife and their two small children in Daly City Sunday.

Firemen said the blaze, which started in the kitchen at 49 Tarrawa, caused an estimated $2,000 to the structure and $1,000 to contents.

Mrs. Schroeder discovered the 8:34 p.m. fire, alerting her Navyman husband and leading the children to safety. They then battled the blaze with pans of water until firemen arrived.

Suit Filed For 'Dust Damage'

Thirty-eight South San Francisco couples filed suit Wednesday for a total of $667,000 for dust damage to their homes.

The lawsuit, filed in Superior Court in Redwood City by attorney Saul N. Ross, alleges that various contractors failed to live up to the conditions of their permits for excavating, grading and hauling dirt in the construction of a subdivision — Westborough No. 4 — and Junipero Serra Freeway.

The result, the suit states, was that "large amounts of dust fell upon the homes and properties of plaintiffs, covering and coating the exterior and filtering through their homes into all parts thereof, forming an encrustation upon plants and flowers and interfering substantially with the comfortable enjoyment of plaintiffs' properties."

Defendants are Piombo Construction Company, Caesar Calan Homes Inc., and GMT Investors, all connected with the mora, Northwood and Yellow Westborough project, and L. C. Stone drives and Alhambra Smith Company, the contractor Road.

Each of the couples asks the homes of the plaintiffs $10,000 for actual damage and are on Valverde, Valencia, Alta for "discomfort, annoyance and Vista, Mariposa, Avalon, Za-emotional and physical upset."

JOHN KMETZ (second from left) charges that "twenty-two pounds of dust and dirt" has collected on the window ledges of South San Francisco homes because of freeway construction. Mayor Frank Bertucelli, left, as well as Ed Coble, resident engineer of the State Highway Department and Borve H. O'Brien of the Piombo Corporation discuss Kmetz's complaint.

In addition, each asks $7,500 from the Piombo company, alleging that, in "disregarding" permit conditions, the firm "willfully caused the nuisance herein complained of to further its own pecuniary interest."

Fire Inspector William Fox Urging S.S.F. Adopt Fire Prevention Code

Inspector William A. Fox with South San Francisco's Bureau of Fire Prevention is recommending the city adopt a fire prevention code.

Specifically, the Fire Department's captain requested the adoption of the 1965 edition of the Fire Prevention Code as recommended by the American Insurance Association.

The matter has been referred to the City Manager for further study.

Fox feels that adoption of the new code will give the city a broader base of fire prevention laws regarding fire and life safety.

In an inter-office memorandum, he pointed out another reason for its adoption.

"Should we have a survey by the American Insurance Association or the Pacific Fire Rating Bureau for a classification rating on fire insurance, we are automatically decreased by 30 points on a 300-point scale without the Fire Prevention Code."

The city has relied on the Uniform Building Code, California Administrative Code and National Fire Prevention Codes for the enforcement of requirements and recommendations for the different occupancies and occupancy hazards.

Fox explained that the Uniform Building Code doesn't cover all fire and life safety codes completely, so the California Administrative Code, Title 19, State Fire Marshal's Code was used in many cases as a supplement. The National Fire Prevention Code was used as a supplement to both the other codes.

"We find that we do not have enough power with present codes to enforce regulations regarding such things as hazardous chemicals, compressed gases, liquefied petroleum, plastics and their by-products, sprinkler systems, paint spray booths and various other hazardous locations."

"In many cases we have bluffed our way through a situation by referring to the National Fire Protection Code, yet they are not part of a code of this city," said Fox. "With the adoption of the 1965 edition of the Fire Prevention Code, they do become a part of it."

He pointed out that the code has been adopted by numerous cities on the Peninsula including Daly City, San Bruno, Burlingame, San Mateo and Redwood City.

Nursery In Colma Wins U.S. Award

Pacific Nurseries, Colma, received two National Landscape Awards from Mrs. Richard Nixon during a luncheon in Washington, D.C., October 15. One was for the plants supplied for the Northgate Shopping Center, 5800 Northgate, San Rafael and the other for the plant material supplied for the planting of the grounds at the Oakland Museum, Oakland, California.

Mrs. Nixon paid tribute to 15 business, industrial, municipal, and educational organizations for achieving excellence in enhancing the physical environment of their communities through landscaping.

The landscaping projects, commissioned by the 15 organizations were winners in the 17th Annual Landscape Awards Program of the American Association of Nurserymen, of which Mrs. Nixon is Honorary Chairman.

This makes five of these National Awards that Louis D. Schenone, Pacific Nurseries, Colma, has brought to the Peninsula. The first three, awarded him by Lady Bird Johnson, were: 1966, College of San Mateo; 1967, The Plaza at the Fairmont Hotel in San Francisco; and 1968, Ghirardelli Square, San Francisco. Schenone has flown to Washington to accept each of the awards in person.

Mrs. Nixon lauded the Association and the Awards Program for helping create "a land in which we can be proud and enjoy life to the greatest extent."

Cited for special recognition, through the new Judges' Award, was the Citizens & Southern National Bank of South Carolina, whose restoration and landscaping project in downtown Charleston inspired restoration and landscaping throughout a four-block area.

Rod McLellan Co. Wins A Top Medal

Rod McLellan Company of South San Francisco won the coveted gold medal for the best cuttleya in the international show at the just concluded Sixth World Orchid Conference in Sydney, Australia.

The prize orchid is Bie. November Bridge, variety, Delilah, a large pink with ruffled lip enhancing superior form and shape.

In keen competition with orchid growers from many countries, "Acres of Orchids," 1450 El Camino Real, earned six other first-place medals with cuttleyas, phalaenopsis and novelty intergenerics; plus two other high awards.

Rod McLellan addressed the conference on "Tissue Culture of Orchids — Catastrophe or Utopia?"

He reports tens of thousands of orchid enthusiasts in Australia, where prosperity abounds due to developments of great mineral deposits.

Before the World Orchid Convention, McLellan visited orchidists in Hawaii, Tahiti, New Caledonia, New Zealand, Tasmania and Australia. "The trip afforded not only pleasure but was truly an educational journey," reports McLellan, who because of the different season in the southern hemisphere, was able to ski on Mt. Cook in New Zealand.

Jack Heads Seal Drive

Walter A. Jack, vice president of The Times in San Mateo, again this year will head the Christmas Seal campaign for San Mateo County.

His reappointment was announced today by Frederick W. Smith, president of the county's Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Association.

Noting that the drive last year, under Jack's leadership, returned a record total of $120,347 to finance association activities, Smith said:

"Our board of directors is delighted that Walter is willing once more to take time out from his many professional and civic obligations to devote to this responsibility."

"In view of the fact that the Seal campaign must be conducted simultaneously with our continuing public effort to raise funds for the purchase of a new Chestmobile testing and screening unit, it is particularly important this year to have a person of Walter's stature and dedication assuming command."

County Service Building Prospects Dim In Daly City

By FRANK LA PIERRE

Chances of a County service building being built in Daly City appeared dim today following an hours-long meeting between county, city and school officials Wednesday.

Talks on constructing such a facility, to be used jointly by the school district and several county service agencies including the courts, have been floating around Daly City for the past four years.

Serious talks on such a joint venture began in 1967 and have run hot and cold since.

County Supervisor Robert St. Clair opened the early morning meeting by informing the group "the majority of the board of supervisors have serious reservations whether such a project in this part of the county is financially feasible."

Explanation

St. Clair later explained in detail that money was not the sole consideration why some board members—whom he refused to name—were against the project.

He said the idea of "fragmenting" the courts (situating some in South San Francisco and another in Daly City) would take away from their effectiveness.

Councilman Frank Paccelli pointed out that the supervisors had made "certain commitments" regarding the service building in the past.

"This area is growing and county facilities are not keeping pace (with the increase)," Paccelli said.

Paccelli noted that when Daly City asked for faster consideration on the facility last year it was reminded by two supervisors that prior commitments had been made for the South San Francisco courthouse expansion.

"There was $50,000 in your budget somewhere for studies on the building. That has been removed," Paccelli told St. Clair.

Times Change
The supervisor's reply centered around the fact that times change and when the commitment was made it sounded like a good idea.

"In reconsidering the idea... looking over priorities and money... the whole operation in Daly City is now questioned," St. Clair explained.

County Manager M. D. Tarshes revealed he had some "serious reservations" about the facility, namely if it would be a wise investment from the already overburdened taxpayers' standpoint, and if it would offer effective representation.

"This does not mean I have reached a personal opinion on this, or the needs of the city at some future date," he said, reiterating this was only his "tentative thinking on the matter."

He also questioned the suitability of the site itself—some 20 odd lots adjacent to the present city hall.

Tarshes also ventured to say that a county-school district arrange ment on the building would not work.

However Jefferson Union High School District superintendent Edward Morgan pointed out that similar joint facilities were on the increase throughout the state.

"There is no question of capital outlay involved, you have to house these (county) activities somewhere," he said.

St. Clair had explained at the outset of the meeting that the county intended to maintain the Wellington Avenue courthouse "as long as we can."

"If Daly City feels priority use of the court is higher we will move it back to South San Francisco," St. Clair said.

Rowe said county agencies—including courts—are presently scattered throughout the city. The proposed building would place these agencies under one roof, thus saving money.

Although the school district had recently entered into a five-year lease renewal, it had not altered its willingness to participate in the venture, according to Morgan.

"As a matter of fact we will probably have to acquire additional space or build our own within the next couple of years," Morgan said.

Neither Daly City nor school district officials were over-enthusiased with the final determination of the morning meeting although St. Clair said he would again ask his board to think in terms of a building program plan for the north county over the next five years "or so."

November 10.

Mike Shapiro of Channel 9 will talk at the meeting concerning "Sesame Street." He will be available for an informal question and answer session. During this time, also, there will be a brief meeting of the Serramonte Homeowner's Association. The remainder of this combination meeting will be concluded with regular P-TA business.

To help publicize the new program, a brightly colored, psychedelic "Sesame Street" jeep will be touring through the neighborhoods of Serramonte, Terra Loma, and West Park on the day of the meeting, November 5.

The Serramonte High School Association Executive Board met recently to develop plans for the forthcoming year.

Membership chairman, Mrs. Lois Manbert, is encouraging all families of Serramonte High School to become a part of Serramonte High School Association.

There will be a $2 enrollment which may be sent to the school, 313 Serramonte Boulevard, Daly City.

A "book drive" for the Resource Centers will take place in November. Further details will be announced at a later date.

Parent volunteers will serve as chaperones for the "Homecoming Dance" on November 7.

Abe Lincoln Skyline P-TA-Serramonte
Carnival Day Meeting Slated In D.C.

Parents and teachers of the Abraham Lincoln School student body have proclaimed November 1 as Carnival Day, starting at 10 a.m. and running to 3 p.m.

Highlighting the activities at the Daly City school will be "Alecac" the clown, with balloons and grab bag prizes. A puppet show is scheduled hourly. Cotton candy, popcorn, soft drinks, hot dogs and hamburgers will be available, as well as a special innovation, Fresh pizza.

In addition to the popular goldfish booth, there also will be many new game booths.

A special sale booth will be set up for Rockhounds featuring many types of polished stones for sale as well as plush, stuffed toys and other items of interest.

A combination P-TA and Serramonte Homeowner Association meeting will be held November 5 at 7:30 p.m., in the multi-purpose room of Skyline School, located on Christen and Warwick Streets in Daly City.

A special feature of this meeting will be a preview of a new educational television program for preschoolers called "Sesame Street."

The purpose of this new program, which will be shown on KQED, Channel 9, is to teach children some of the things they will need when they begin school.

Programs will feature letters of the alphabet, numbers and counting, how to solve simple problems. Other programs will teach children about cities, mountains, animals, where food comes from, and new ideas about the world around them.

Puppets and songs and games, cartoons and films will all be used to entertain and teach. "Sesame Street" will be shown each day — Monday through Friday — for one hour

AMONG THOSE proclaiming November 1 as Carnival Day at Daly City's Abe Lincoln Elementary School are Joey Schoep and Lori Lachman.

At a double ring ceremony recently Vicki Claire Lorber became Mrs. Roger Wardley at Temple Beth Israel-Judea.

Only family members witnessed the marriage, performed by Rabbi Herbert Morris October 16.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Lorber of Westlake and the sister of Harold and Katie Lorber.

Her grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Harold Lorber of San Francisco and Mr. and Mrs. Samuel A. Berger of Seattle.

Roger is the son of William Wardley of San Jose and Mrs. Gerald Hansen of Daly City.

Westmoor P-TA Reduces
Number Of Its Meetings

"Happiness is Joining the PTA" was one of the themes of the first unit meeting for the Westmoor High School PTA on October 16, when parents, teachers and administrators got together for a get-to-know each other evening.

Membership Chairman, Mrs. Doris Fox, urged parents to join, and pointed out that students need the support and interest even more now than they are in high school.

Envelopes were mailed in which parents could send in their dues, $1 for one parent and $2 for both parents.

In case some parents did not receive their envelopes, they are urged to join, and send in their dues directly to Westmoor High School, in care of Mrs. Fox, or mail them to her at 228 Del Prado Drive, Daly City.

Since the unit meetings have been reduced to three for the whole year, many parents have been enthusiastic, thinking attendance at these meetings will be greater.

The remaining two meetings will be in December and March.

The officers of Westmoor PTA this year are Mrs. Eldon McRunnels, president; Mrs. Elwin Short, vice president; Mrs. Monte Hill, recording secretary; Mrs. Hal Fox, treasurer; Mrs. Emma Bogatin, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Robert O'Neil, historian; Mrs. Robert Woodworth, parliamentarian; Wil Parker, auditor.

Booster Club
Meet Planned

The Jefferson High School Boosters Club Executive Board has met twice to prepare a set of by-laws to be outlined at a special meeting Thursday, at 7:30 p.m. in the high school cafeteria.

The By-Laws will be reviewed and an election will be held for an auditor and acceptance of the by-laws at this time.

The meeting also will be the kickoff to the Boosters Club membership drive. Dues are $1 a person. Membership cards will be given out at this time.

DATEBOOK Louanne Heath

Mrs. Eugene Bertorelli, chairman of the Our Lady Sodality enrollment breakfast, scheduled for this Sunday morning, urges all members and prospective members to call for their breakfast reservations.

The annual event, now in its thirteenth year, will be held following the 9 a.m. Mass and Communion at the Our Lady of Mercy Catholic Church, according to Mrs. James Kelleher publicity chairman.

Mrs. Bertorelli, who is the sodality's spiritual director, and her committee will prepare the breakfast in the parish hall. There is no charge for the meal, but a list of those planning to attend is needed for purchasing and seating arrangements. Call Mrs. Bertorelli or the sodality chairman, Mrs. Joan Stack, 992-4255, for reservations.

Members of Pacifica's Fifty Plus Club are urged to come along on the group's Las Vegas tour which leaves November 8 for five exciting days in the desert oasis.

According to Mrs. Edna Laurel Calhan, club president, the trips to and from the resort will be as worthwhile and the days spent in Nevada.

For instance, on the first day of the jaunt the bus is scheduled to stop in Tulare county so members may view the museum in Visalia which features relics of pioneer days. The second and third days will be spent in Las Vegas and on the fourth day members will begin the homeward trek with a stop at the ghost town of Calico, located near Barstow. Calico was founded in 1881 and abandoned in 1895 after the silver mines gave out. Currently the town is being restored.

The final day of the trip will include a guided tour of the Flight Test Center at Edwards Air Force Base. Mrs. Elizabeth Funderburg is in charge of information and reservations for the outing.

"Come along one and all" is the call being sent forth by Mrs. Sheryn Donnelly and Mrs. Thomas Bonomi, the chairman and co-chairman of the Day at the races being planned for the members of St. Andrews Parish.

Friday, November 21, has been chosen as the day for the visit to the Bay Meadows Race track, and tickets go on sale Sunday following the masses at 7 a.m., 8 a.m., 9:15, 10:30 and 11:30 a.m. and 12:15 p.m. The masses will be held in Daniel Webster School in Daly City.

According to Mrs. Albert Theis, publicity chairman, the day's events will get underway with a no-host cocktail hour between 11 a.m. and noon in the Turf Club. Luncheon will be served between noon and 1 p.m. The races start at 1 p.m. and conclude at 4:30 p.m.

Details concerning transportation to and from Bay Meadows will be announced soon, Mrs. Theis explained.

Tickets will be sold for $7 per person and anyone wishing more information about plans and arrangements is urged to call Mrs. Donnelly, 755-9427 or Mrs. Bonomi, 756-3330.

A new plan for only three unit meetings per year has been met with parent enthusiasm, according to Mrs. Hal Fox, treasurer and publicity chairman for the Westmoor High School P-TA.

The idea of fewer meetings was conceived in an effort to make it easier for more people to take part in the school's P-TA program.

Mrs. Eldon McRunnels is the new president of the unit and is assisted by Mrs. Elwin Short, vice president; Mrs. Monte Hill, recording secretary; Mrs. Fox; Mrs. Emma Bogatin, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Robert O'Neil, historian; Mrs. Robert Woodworth, parliamentary and Wil Parker, auditor.

The executive board is currently planning a second meeting in December and it is hoped that any parents who have not yet joined will be enrolled by that time. Persons wishing to become members may do so by sending their dues directly to Mrs. Fox, C-o Westmoor High School, or 228 Del Prado Drive, Daly City. The cost is $1 for a single membership or $2 for both parents.

Who can get a better deal on a new car?

You, or a $950 million bank?

We will. First Western Bank has 90-plus offices leasing new cars in California. Suppose each branch buys a car a month (obviously we're going to lease more than that). That's over 1,100 cars a year. If each car costs about $3,500, we're talking about nearly $4 million dollars. That's bargaining power and why we can get a better deal than the person who buys one new car every couple of years. Our plan works for people who hate to haggle and want to lease a car at low bank rates.

We're the source of cash—the money factory. We don't tack on extra charges to pay financial middlemen. That's another reason why we can save you as much as $300 on a two-year lease.

What price do you pay for our professional advice? Nothing. Come in and get our unbiased, financial facts about car leasing. Free. Find out why it's sometimes cheaper to lease a more expensive car. And whether you lease a car from us or borrow the money to buy one, we'll give you a free personal checking account. This promise you can bank on.

The Art Of Watching Daughter In Kitchen

Good morning, good cooks.

As much as I enjoy baking and cooking, I find even greater pleasure in seeing my daughter practicing the culinary arts. It would be pleasant to think that I have inspired her, but such is not the case. This year she is taking Homemaking at Benjamin Franklin School and her teacher Miss Beverly Dalstone, has the secret of making cooking fun. Not only does Terri rush home to bake some goodies that they made in school, but she even cleans up afterwards. Miracles of miracles!

If there is any negative side to all this new interest and ability, it is that I am frequently challenged on my knowledge and methods of cooking. (Only a mother's love keeps me from hitting her on the head with a mixing bowl.) However I am happy to defer to the expertise of Miss Dalstone and delighted to have fledgling good cook in my home.

Terri recently baked these shortbread cookies and the results of her mixing and fixing were delicious. Here is the recipe from homemaking class.

SCOTCH SHORTBREAD

1 cup butter
1/2 cup sugar
2 cups flour

Cream the cup of cold butter with the half cup sugar until creamy. Then add the two cups flour and blend well.

Place on lightly floured board and knead. Roll out about one-eighth inch thick with rolling pin. Cut with small cookie cutter. Place on greased cookie sheet. Prick tops with fork.

Bake at 350 degrees for eight to ten minutes. (Watch carefully, these cookies should not be brown.) Remove to cooling rack to cool.

Another method of preparing the shortbread is to divide the dough into two rolls about 1 1/2 inches in diameter. Wrap in waxed paper and refrigerate at least two hours. Remove and slice 1/4-inch thick. Place on greased cookie sheet and prick top with fork. Bake as directed.

RECENTLY I RECEIVED a note and recipe from Mrs. Henry A. Paganini, who lives at 286 East Avenue in San Bruno. Mrs. Paganini wrote that since apples are so plentiful at this time of the year she wanted to share his apple pie recipe with the good cooks.

This is a terrific recipe. The method of preparing the crust, the square baking pan and the open-faced pie are unusual and the result of this difference is a delicious pie. I'm grateful to Mrs. Paganini and I think you will be too when you try this recipe.

DUTCH APPLE PIE

1 1/2 cups sifted flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon sugar
1/2 cup corn oil
2 Tablespoons milk
4 large tart apples

Sift the one and one-half cups sifted flour, half teaspoon salt and teaspoon sugar into a 8x8x2-inch cake pan.

Combine the half cup corn oil with the two tablespoons milk. Whip with a fork. Pour all at once over flour mixture. Mix with fork until dry ingredients are dampened. Pat out to cover the bottom of pan and push dough up sides to depth of one inch.

Peel and core the four large tart apples, and cut into 16ths. Arrange over the pastry and top with streusel mixture.

STREUSEL

1/4 cups sugar
2 Tablespoons flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
2 Tablespoons butter
1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
one-eighth teaspoon nutmeg

Combine the three-fourths cup sugar, two tablespoons flour, half teaspoon salt, half teaspoon cinnamon and one-eighth teaspoon nutmeg. Cut in the two tablespoons butter with a pastry blender or fork.
(Note: The spices were my own addition to the recipe.
If you prefer a spiceless apple pie, leave them out.)

Sprinkle the streusel mixture over the top of apples. Bake in 350-degree oven for 10 minutes, lower heat to 350-degrees and bake 30 minutes longer, or until apples are tender.

THIS SEEMS to be "share-the-recipes" week. This next recipe comes from Mrs. Kathy Sagminio who lives at 285 El Dorado Drive in Pacifica. When Kathy told me about this recipe she said she would bring me a sample, but her children didn't leave any samples, which gives you an idea of how good these cookies taste.

With Hallowe'en almost here, a cookie that uses pumpkin as it's main ingredient sounds just great doesn't it? These cookies are moist and tasty, very mildly spiced.

PUMPKIN COOKIES

1 cup brown sugar (firmly packed)
1 cup cooked or canned pumpkin
1/2 cup oil
1 teaspoonful vanilla
2 cups sifted flour
1 teas. baking soda
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon baking powder
1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
1/2 teaspoon nutmeg
1/2 teaspoon ginger
1 cup raisins
1 cup chopped nuts

In a mixing bowl combine the cup of brown sugar, cup of pumpkin, half cup oil and teaspoon vanilla. Mix well.

Sift together the two cups flour, one teaspoon soda, one teaspoon baking powder, half teaspoon each cinnamon and nutmeg and the quarter teaspoon ginger. Add to the pumpkin mixture and mix well.

Blend in the cup of raisins and half cup chopped nuts. Drop by spoonfuls on greased cookie sheet. Bake in 350-degree oven 12 to 15 minutes. Makes about four dozen cookies.

You will note that this recipe doesn't use eggs, an added attraction if you have someone in your family who has to avoid eggs.

TRUE TO FORM, you good cooks responded to my SOS for recipes for Aebleskiver. So next week's column will be turned over to you generous Danes and your recipes.

'Black Studies' Is Introduced

Minority Studies is a new course being offered at Westmoor this year. Although the course is listed as a semester course, new material will be offered each semester, by Alvin Wolf, the teacher, and LeRoy Jones, the student teacher.

Black studies is the focal point for the fall semester. It covers the African past, slavery and abolitionism, post slavery civil rights, and most particularly, how the past affects today's black people. Jones, born and reared in Oakland, is a black police officer, who serves in the Community Relations Department.

Even though Black Studies is the primary interest, the class is adopting a child from Appalachia or an Indian reservation. $22 is needed so fund raising events such as a car wash, which raised $52.50, have taken place. Wolf's sociology classes are cooperating with the Minority Studies class to raise the money. Both groups are planning more car washes and noontime benefit concerts.

Spindrift Players

Cast for Upcoming 'Barnaby'

By DORIS CHRISTIANSEN

The Pacifica Spindrift Players' Christmas Holiday production has been cast according to Luther Spraker, production director. This is the second consecutive year the PSP has offered a production for the youth of the community.

The name of the production is "Barnaby" a fantasy by Robert and Lillian Masters, based on the famous comic strip by Crockett Johnson.

About the Play: Barnaby is a very active little boy with a wild imagination. He wished for a fairy godmother. But instead, he gets a fascinating fairy godfather, a certain Mr. O'Malley, with wings, a paunch, a black cigar, and an amazing repertoire of tall tales. Whimsical chaos begins when Barnaby believes in this fairy godfather to the complete frustration of his bewildered parents. Barnaby's father is running for Mayor, and the household is agog, but not too much so to go ahead with the plans for Barnaby's birthday party. Both the party and the campaign end in fantastic events when Barnaby and his fabulous Mr. O'Malley, along with their zany cronies, take over. Boss Snag and his henchmen who try to kidnap Barnaby and ruin his father's campaign end up almost pleading for straights when Gus the Ghost (a gentle refined spook), Gorgon, the talking dog, and Lancelot McSnoid, the brash but invisible leprechaun, thwart the political machinations. True to form and throughout, Mr. O'Malley does exactly the wrong thing at the right time to make everything work out beautifully.

The cast includes: Barnaby (the title role), Mark Serrechia; John Baxter (Barnaby's Pop); Darrel Green; Ellen Baxter; (Barnaby's Mom), Kathy Hawkins; Mr. O'Malley (the fairy godfather), Kurt Russ; Gorgon (loveable talking dog), Bobby Rigling; Gus the Ghost, (refined type), Gary Nelson; Lancelot McSnoid (the leprechaun that only the audience can see), Virginia Johnson; Boss Snag (Pop's opposition in the campaign for Mayor), Eugene Merum; Muggins (Snag's henchman), Prince Serrechia; Jane

Schultz (the nose little girl next door), Sherry Cleary; Doctor A. A. Smith, (a psychiatrist), Steve Folster; Mr. O'Rourke (a young efficient hospital attendant), Bill Thaxton; Miss Foster (a typical newspaper personality), Alexandria Brenke; Seven children of the Neighborhood: Corwin, Eric Rigling; Kent, James Jaeger; Barbara, Cheryl Parker; Louis, Mike Parker; Dottie, Desiree Ann Grant; Ruthie, April Ellis and Georgie, Gary Grant, Junior; voice heard of radio announcer, Bob Southworth.

More than fifty persons read for the parts over a period of two weeks, Spraker stated. Those who were not cast, but would like to work in other areas of production (or anyone else interested for that matter) such as costumes, makeup, set construction, properties, lighting, etc., are asked to call or attend any of the rehearsals which are held at Oddstad Center on Tuesday, Thursday and Sundays at 7:30 p.m.

The play will open Saturday, December 6 and play Saturdays and Sundays with both matinee and evening performances.

SAN BRUNO

San Bruno Man is Wed

Mrs. Betty Dickson of Kansas City, Kan., and George K. Ingham of San Bruno were married in a quiet ceremony in the First United Methodist Church in Ogden, Utah.

Mrs. Dickson's sons, Bruce Dickson III and Robert Dickson, both of whom attend the University of Kansas, gave their mother in marriage. She was attended by Mrs. Susan Knight, daughter of the bridegroom. George K. Ingham Jr. was his father's best man.

The new Mrs. Ingham is a professional nurse, and her husband serves on the San Bruno City Council. They lived in the same small Illinois town 35 years ago and dated each other at that time. They had not seen each other in 27 years until last year after each was widowed by the death of a spouse.

They will make their home in San Bruno.

Halloween Costume Party Hi-Fi Room Tonite

You'll meet the "Cross Roads," a groovy, new trio appearing Wednesday through Sunday at the Hi-Fi Room South, when you meet the goblins during Ben Muniz and Joe Borges' Halloween Costume Party tonight from 9 p.m. to 2 a.m. Prizes will be awarded for the best costumes (both men and women) around the witching hour. It had to happen: somebody finally stumped Eddie Platte, the pianist at Brunos in San Francisco's Mission. They requested a number that dated back to the days Caesar and Brutus were not being invited to the same party. For once in his life, Eddie sat there fumbling across the "68's" wondering what made the Roman version of the top 10...

Bela Szlavik, master chef and host of the International Garden Restaurant in Burlingame, is back on the dining scene after a 30-day vacation touring Europe. Bela has decided to discontinue serving luncheon and will concentrate on pampering your palate with Hungarian dinners. Tommy Harris received an SOS cablegram from his friend Andrew Gruber in the Philippines, "Heard about your new dish Bean and Beer soup—stop—send me some pronto—stop—also some Buffalo Stew." So from Tommy's Joynt in San Francisco to Gruber in the Philippines—some grub.

"Prices come tumbling down at Moars," popular cafeteria located on Powell Street where the Cable Cars turn at Market and Powell. New hours for Senior Citizens taking in the complete $1 dinner are 1:30 p.m. to 7:30 p.m. Monday through Friday; 11 a.m. to 7:30 p.m. on weekends. By popular demand, the new Kuo Wah restaurant, which has been serving buffet-style since its recent opening, is going back to table service. Former employees of Vincent Dell Oso hosted a surprise party for him at Joe's of Westlake (35 strong). Vincent was gifted with a set of gold cufflinks. Italian food was the order of the evening, natch. For that fresh country flavor, the fried chicken served to eat in or take out at Chickens Unlimited is, in fact, unlimited. Diana George and the Phil Leuk Trio top the entertainment bill in the V.I.P. Lounge of the new Le Baron Hotel-San Francisco. Oreste's restaurant in San Francisco has old world charm, boasting many private banquet rooms, a wine cellar, and a collection of famous Italian oil paintings. Enjoy luncheon or dinner in a friendly atmosphere and among well known celebrities.

As an example of Nick Gust's strive for perfection and absolute comfort for his guests in all his restaurants located along the ocean front of Rockaway Beach, Pacifica: the tile floor installed in his Al Williams' Papagayo Room, a fabulous Mexican cantina to open on the ground level of The Moonraker restaurant, did not quite measure up to Nick's standards. So the notable owner (he's also Mayor of Pacifica) ordered the flooring torn up and another one laid, even though the restaurant's opening is only a whisper away. For further developments in the chapters of Nick Gust's adventures with Al Williams and the Papagayo Room, keep an eye on Bright Lights' column. Grand opening is Saturday, November 1. Next time you dine at Sil Oliva's Exposition Fish Grotto at Fisherman's Wharf, ask for Angie Rosasco. He'll see that you're seated at your favorite table, and he'll tip you off as to the specialties of the day. Peach Wellington Claudia, was the center of much praise from Chamber of Commerce executives dining at Phil Lehr's Steakery in San Francisco. Phil's creation of the Peach Wellington was inspired by Dean Martin's beautiful actress daughter, Claudia, and has become the famed restaurant's most popular specialty.

Lucien Sabella, cordial proprietor of A. Sabella's on Fisherman's Wharf, is back from a trek to Las Vegas and the Sahara Golf Tournament. Although Lou failed to bring home any trophies (other than a few extra greenbacks), he had a great time and is looking forward to next year's event. The Lamp Post Steak House reports: Since the advent of the rib eye steak dinner (it's a new $2.65 special), business in the red meat section has increased twofold. But if you have in mind a New York steak, the Lamp Post features a luscious meal at just $1.59. The decor is very "camp"—Victorian with all the red flocked wallpaper treatment, plus gold mirrors and crystal chandeliers. For seafood to take home, Vince's Delicatessen and Fish Dept. (located a few steps north of Vines Italian and Seafood restaurant on El Camino Real) has a Fisherman's Wharf selection. All keyed up after a busy day at the office? The 5 p.m. to 9 p.m. "Sundowner Time" in the Lounge at the Villa Hotel is a fun-fest. Help yourself to hot and cold hors d'oeuvres; pianobar entertainment by Valerian, and dancing to Teddy Noga's Eastman Trio nightly, except Sunday and Monday, from 9 p.m.

A slip of the pen: Bright Lights listed Henry Solomon of Fosters Lunch System, Ltd., as general manager in last week's column. Pardon, Henry, it's well known that you are president as well as general manager of Fosters, and a well-earned post it is, too. Your Bright Lighter has known Mr. Solomon for 15 years, and it has been a pleasure to see him rise from executive of the former Cliff House restaurant to the top chair in the local Foster's organization. A slogan posted above the alcove leading into the intimate Bonnie Dee dining room at Scotty Campbell's in Redwood City reads, "A Closed Mouth Gathers No Feet." This is certainly "food for thought" during a leisurely dinner. Safari Hamburgers are the very "end" at the new Safari restaurant in San Carlos. Owner Julian Basin has a winner in his 777 El Camino Real "oasis."

After All This, The Great Pumpkin Better Show Up

HALLOWEEN is a time for witches and goblins, monsters and ghouls. But mostly it's a time for kids. And with pumpkin growers abounding on the San Mateo coastside, youngsters don't have to settle for storebought jack-o-lanterns. They can go over to the fields to pick out their own. For the past week or so, young folks have been streaming over the hills to select just the right pumpkin for that perfect jack-o-lantern. This group of kids from San Mateo took advantage of a day off from school Friday and examined every single pumpkin in Tom and Pete's Pumpkin Field at Half Moon Bay. But the choice was tough, because in this and other fields along the coast, thousands upon thousands of pumpkins fight for attention.

FRANK LA PIERRE

Singing In 'Aida'

DALY CITY'S OWN Paul Hupf, attorney-turned-judge-turned-attorney, has now turned to opera. That's right! He sings in the chorus of "Aida" with the San Francisco Opera Company. And a fine voice he has, lads!

WE CAN'T HELP feeling like a rube after waiting for Zodiac to show up in Daly City last week. But we're not alone in this feeling. A lot of folks around town "saw" the killer on roofs with a rifle; lurking in a darkened doorway; and some doubtless thought he might be lying in wait under their beds.

On the other hand, there is an equal number of citizens who feel it was all part of a Great Publicity Stunt. Hmmm!

ON YOUR MARK, GET SET—Brisbane city fathers have been invited to take part in the annual Daly City Recreation Department cross-country run. The event starts in Brisbane and ends near the Colma School in Daly City. November 22 is the day, folks, and it might be run to watch some councilmen run to Daly City.

WESTLAKE CLUBHOUSE—That clubhouse for Westlake Park is on the threshold of reality (whatever THAT means). The president of the Westlake Homeowners' Association, Tony Zidich, was told by Daly City councilman Frank Pacelli last week. It's only a matter of getting everyone together on a very simple point—money.

PATIENCE, PATIENCE FOLKS—Daly City attorney Albert Polonsky has personally looked into the matter and, after huddling with acting city engineer Dave Macabee, states without hesitation that the Vista Grande cable television network IS progressing. Listen in next week when we will answer other pertinent questions on the matter, including WHEN? WHERE? and WHY?

PUT DOWN OF THE YEAR award goes to Daly City Mayor Bud Lycetti, when telling his board that last year the city paid $2.2 million to the county "for whatever they do for us?"

SAFE EATING DEPT.—After hearing the well-worn slogans "Alcohol and gasoline don't mix" and "driving and drinking don't mix" the Ravetti's (Donna and Dan along with brother David) began experimenting with what things would mix with alcohol. After all, they had several liquor stores in partnership with Carl Barbato, and it would only be good business to combine SOMETHING with the beverages. Last month their research paid off! Ravetti International Foods bought up the local franchise for Golden Pioneer Chicken. Unless the Safety Council finds a reason why alcohol and chicken don't mix, we think they've got it.

THE SHADOW KNOWS—About Supervisor Bob St. Clair, a confirmed Demo) sitting at that back table at the Finch dinner in Palo Alto the other p.m. More than 1,000 Republicans, and a scattering of Democrats) turned out for the fund raiser aimed at benefitting campaign coffers in both San Mateo and Santa Clara counties.

AND SPEAKING OF BOB—Joe Garagiola, in the current issue of Sport magazine, tells of St. Clair's eating habits. Seems the former Forty-niner football star walked into an eatery one night and ordered a steak—raw. The waiter insisted on knowing how he wanted it and St. Clair replied: "Take it out of the refrigerator and put it on a plate—that's how I want it!" Any man that can eat a raw steak is TOUGH in my book.

CLAIRE (Mrs. Frank) PACELLI RECUPERATING at home following back surgery... ditto PR Westlaker shopping center's Gene Perry after attacking himself with a butcher knife.

HEW SECRETARY FINCH has got a sense of humor and a gift of gab. Opened his $100-a-plate feed by looking over the huge crowd and commenting "How sweet it is—without cyclamate." Another passage a little later called the joint effort "a shotgun wedding between Santa Clara and San Mateo counties."

The menu for $100? Roast Beef with Yorkshire pudding (naturally); Hearts of romaine with avocado wedges; grapefruit segments with crab legs (special Louie dressing); artichoke bottoms a la florentine; sour dough rolls; and to top off the California fare, cherries jubilee.

Alice's Wonderland

"The time has come," the Walrus said, "to talk of many things.

Of shoes — and ships — and sealing wax — of cabbages — and kings — And why the sea is boiling hot — And whether pigs have wings."

So the old walrus, and the carpenter, and the March Hare, and the Cheshire Cat, and the mean old Queen and little Alice are a hundred years old; but their wonderland is as lively as ever.

Alice in Wonderland has been called a virtual volcano and hailed as a book that changed the whole cast of children's literature.

On the surface it may seem that its strange characters and fantastic situation have no relation to life — especially that of children. But let's see.

In every child's world — in adult's too; there are times when common sense logic is opposed by logic that seems utterly absurd, with every argument against it leading to highest frustration.

"ALICE IS SO THOROUGH a picture of such situations that the reader identifies with it. For example the White Queen says, "The rule is, jam tomorrow and jam yesterday—but never jam today." Alice objects.

"It must come sometimes to jam today."

"No, it can't," says the Queen. "It's jam every other day. Today isn't every other day, you know." Poor Alice is vanquished. She shakes her head and retires. "I don't understand you. It's dreadfully confusing."

But the reader is not confused. He knows exactly how Alice feels. He recalls how playmates, teachers, parents frustrate him with arguments that seem devoid of some sense and yet are forced upon him with dogmatism nearly as strong as the Queen's. Knowing this he aches for Alice as she tries to cope with the people and things she meets.

Alice leads us through a land where the worse foibles of society are pictured. There is the rabbit who is too busy to help a child out of a mess, and a place where everything is too big. Have you ever watched a three-year-old navigate a stairway or climb from a chair? There is the cowardliness of the cards, the hypocrisy of duchess, the daughter of the King.

THE MARCH HARE, and the Mad Hatter are selfishness personified. The Cheshire Cat is a friend who can't be relied upon. Intimidation comes from the Queen; arrogance from the Caterpillar and the Mock Turtle. There is nonsense which is forced upon the child Alice, while she is deadly serious about the frustrations she knows but can't seem to communicate to those who can help her.

Yet Alice in Wonderland was not designed to be an allegory that might lead to a change in society. It came from the mind of a mathematician who attempted to entertain three little girls during a boat trip. When he reached home he resolved to write down the story that he had invented. He called it a fairy tale.

In it he sought to capture the wild imagination of children. He employed nonsense purely because he had learned that it entertains children. Much of the appeal of his book comes from the striking patterns of language and ideas that he wove into a rational child's irrational dream.

The like like situations and caricatures, the brilliant irony are included to make the reader laugh, not to teach him. Yet as he reads it, through the nonsense, through the fantastic situations and characters, he can see an element of truth, as the scholarly, perceptive professor saw it in the lives and dreams of the children he knew.

How shallow must be the life of a child who has not met Alice in Wonderland by reading the book and again in seeing the movies that have been made of it.

(Post City Editor)

Activist Explains It

JIM MUSSELWHITE, a Westmoor Student who finally agreed he is an "activist," as I called him in a recent story, explains that Inquiry Club was not suspended because it distributed AFT pro-strike literature last year, but instead because it circulated its own materials, including not only pro-AFT statements but student members' "demands" as well.

He's also a junior — not a sophomore, as we printed in a story last week, and this now gives us a two-for-three batting average, since we got it correct three weeks ago, in still another writing.

Referring to a story on Westmoor's "quiet majority," under my byline, Musselwhite said he got the idea that the "quiet majority" were those who ripped off and burned armbands worn by some students to observe the anniversary of Che Guevara's death. That's all wrong, Musselwhite said, since he sees four groups:

"The first is the smallest. It's the kids who pulled armbands off and burned them; the second group is middle: the ones that wore the armbands; the third group is the largest... they're the group who doesn't like to see the armbands, but are not going to object. The fourth is the largest, and they don't care."

SO MUCH for Musselwhite's beliefs about my accuracy. Now, then, for his thoughts about the taxpayer. Interesting:

"... I don't feel that taxpayers should have the right to force a kid to attend a class where he is not learning anything... when it harms a child, the taxpayer has no right to do it!"

Observing that his thinking might be different if education were "voluntary," Musselwhite asserted:

"... I think the taxpayers' obligation, the taxpayers' right as to what he wants done with education is limited, and I think that is the way it is going to have to be.

"Public education is based on socialist theory and the individual, the public is not going to be able to control it as much when it is a socialist establishment."

He claims: "The taxpayers' rights must be limited."

THERE APPEARS to be a mini-drive of sorts to discredit Jefferson High trustee Jane Powell, a woman I trust, admire and often agree with.

Among some of the "dreary" (a word I learned from a teacher recently) doodlings, on an agenda of the Board of Trustees: "Wouldn't you like to see Mrs. Powell legally killed?" — passed from one ("sick?") teacher to another, according to a parent, who is concerned.

DID YOU KNOW (do you really care?) that of approximately the 339 Jefferson High District classroom teachers 55 live in Pacifica, 41 in Daly City and THREE in Colma... THAT NONE of the district's psychologists live in the district at all (and what, quickly, does THAT mean?)... that 21 of 66 teachers at Terra Nova live in Pacifica, while 13 of a staff of 73 at Oceana High reside in Pacifica?... that only about nine of 36 administrators live in the DISTRICT (unless some are in that small portion of western San Bruno that's in the district; was too tired to find those out?)... that Supt. Edward Morgan DOES live in the district?

All of which means that just about one-third of the Jeff district teachers and fewer of the administrators-special services leaders live and breathe the taxes and everyday problems, interests and "life" of OUR educational community.

BEING MANAGER of the Cow Palace in Daly City has its advantages... its compensations, but on opening night of the current Silver Anniversary of the great, colorful Grand National, I was beginning to wonder if George Strathairn would ever get to see his greatest show of the season. He was up and down, out and around, then back again throughout the spectacle... but, guess with several nights and days ahead, he's bound to catch it all eventually. A lot to see... hate to see ANY-ONE miss it!

Letters to the Editor

'Quiet Majority'

Editor, The Post:

The impression one gets from reading Will E. Thomas' "The Quiet Majority Speaks Out at Westmoor" is that the so-called "silent majority" finally had its innings against the radical element. The mind reels with images of a massive put-down of radicals by an aroused and militant student body. Nothing can be farther from the truth. With respect to any of the vital issues of our time, the "silent majority at Westmoor," like silent majorities most places, remains apathetic, apolitical, and safely silent. Therefore, to characterize "three skirmishes" as the response of a silent majority is patently absurd.

Over the past 13 years I not only have had the privilege of teaching some of the most gifted of Westmoor's students in the enriched program, but through team-teaching have had the opportunity to know great numbers of students. Consequently, I feel most qualified to comment on the intellectual caliber of those students who peacefully protested and those few who opposed them with acts of violence.

In my opinion, many who were wearing armbands... for whatever reason... are among the most intelligent, articulate, sensitive and idealistic students at Westmoor. Call them wrong or misguided if you will, but to allege that they are ignorant of the cause they espouse, are insincere, or "dupes" is a calumny on these fine young people. (Any community which produces "activists" Jim Musselwhite should be proud). If there were a few who protested "because they were told not to," they were surely not typical.

In the two minor incidents I personally witnessed, the late students who ripped armbands from demonstrators in the hallways, have histories of failing grades, cutting of classes, and other related discipline problems.

The article seemed to imply that Westmoor is proud of those who violated the rights of peaceful dissenters. How can an institution whose only rationale is the search for truth take pride in those whose repertoire consists chiefly of shouting "Communist" or "Go to Russia"? If these few who counter reason with insult and violence are presented as typical of the aroused "silent majority," then heaven help this free society.

Also, I find it curious that concern was expressed for those who allegedly didn't know why they were protesting but nothing said about the ignorance of those who gave vent to irrational hatred.

Finally, why should an appeal from the students wearing armbands for the protection of their constitutional rights be designated as "ironic"? The attitude that dissenting students must reap what they sow obliterates entirely the crucial constitutional distinction between peaceful protest and violent counter protest.

Unquestionably, there was a clear constitutional duty on the part of school authorities in this instance to protect free expression. Without this protection, democracy is a sham... and we are not better than a fascist or communist society.

We're dedicated to the idea of helping our customers make more money. So at First National you get the highest rate paid by any insured financial institution in the country.

That's just the beginning. We provide all the services a larger bank provides, but with a difference. For example, most banks are open daily only while you're working. No up at First National. If you come by as early as 8 o'clock in the morning, you'll find a cheerful bank officer there ahead of you, at a drive-in or walk-up window. And you will find him, still smiling, if you show up as late as 6 p.m. — 8 p.m., on Fridays. That's a total of 52 hours a week, while most other banks are open only 26 hours.

That's not all. You'll find one of four branches near you. And we are dedicated to the idea of serving you quickly, efficiently, and helpfully. Come in and see. You'll be glad you did.

New Pilot Jefferson High District Planning Program Being Launched

Assistant Jefferson High School District Superintendent for Instruction Ernest Ribera conferred with Pacific Councilwoman Grace McCarty on Monday about the list of citizens who might well serve as community members of the new District Planning Council.

In making known one of the first meetings on the council's makeup following approval of the group by district trustees this week, Ribera acknowledged the project "may take a while, but we'll start moving immediately."

He will meet with Mrs. McCarty, who was a community member on the District Planning System Committee that worked with Ribera and others in education to formulate the council plan at 8:30 a.m.

Dozen Persons

Ultimately, Ribera pointed out this week, the list will be narrowed to "about a dozen" persons, who will be contacted regarding their availability and desire to serve on the council. Then, those 12 or 13 names will be referred to the Board of Trustees, which will make a final selection of six persons to have membership on the council—a two-year pilot operation.

Community members will be joined by six teachers, six students, one "recent" graduate, Ribera and Supt. Edward Mordenis. Each of the district's six schools will have a representative, and the chairman of the specific school's planning committee is to be that representative on the district-wide council. Similarly, each school will be represented by one of its student. Ribera, as assistant superintendent for instruction, would serve as the council's coordinating secretary.

Necessary Changes

The initial committee saw a need to "keep up with necessary changes in education, particularly," it was pointed out in a special report to the board, "when the resources, both in terms of money and people are limited."

A way to "continue to look ahead to find better ways to educate its students and to allocate its resources most efficiently toward that end" was seen necessary. Ribera said he hoped the new structure would result in "getting more people to think and to work, thinking and working."

He explained, "The main idea is to broaden the base of participation in curriculum development, within the recognized organization of the district."

At Feasting Time Enjoy A Duckling

With the advent of cool weather, the cranberry harvest and the holiday season, roast stuffed duckling with cranberry orange sauce spells a message of old-fashioned elegance certain to delight your family or festive young guests.

A highly nutritious food, duckling can be served with an innumerable variety of accompanying foods. Its versatility provides new opportunities to demonstrate your creative flair as a hostess.

Roast Stuffed Duckling With Cranberry Orange Sauce
1 frozen duckling (4 1/2 to 6 pounds) defrosted
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 1/2 cups thinly sliced celery
1/2 cup chopped onion
2 tablespoons butter or margarine

Cranberry Orange Sauce
1 cup water
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 cup cranberries
1/2 cup orange juice

2 1/4 cups 1/4-inch bread cubes
1/2 cup chopped pecans
2 tablespoons orange juice
1 teaspoon sugar
1 teaspoon grated orange rind

Wash and drain duckling; dry skin gently with paper toweling. Sprinkle body and neck cavities with 1/2 teaspoon salt. Cook celery and onion in butter or margarine until onion is soft. Add bread cubes, pecans, orange juice, sugar, orange rind and remaining 1/2 teaspoon salt; toss lightly. Fill neck and body cavities loosely with stuffing. Skewer neck skin to back. Cover opening of body cavity with aluminum foil and tie legs together loosely. Place on rack in shallow roasting pan. Bake in slow oven (325° F.) until drumstick meat is tender, about 3 hours. To make sauce, combine water and sugar and bring to boil; boil 5 minutes. Add cranberries and cook until they pop, about 5 minutes. Combine orange juice and cornstarch; stir until smooth. Add to cranberries; cook until clear and thickened. Stir in orange rind and sections. Serve duckling with sauce. Yield: 4 servings.

Snappy Meal-In-1 With King Crab

Here's a snappy meal-in-one dish to add to your file of quick recipes. Pieces of canned or frozen Alaska King crab are placed over cooked broccoli and topped with a creamy sauce made from creamed soup. For special flavor and richness, sour cream and grated Parmesan cheese are added.

King Crab Divan
2 (7 1/2 oz.) cans Alaska King crab or 1-pound frozen Alaska King crab, thawed
2 (10 oz.) packages frozen broccoli, cooked

1 (10 1/2 oz.) can condensed cream of chicken soup
1/2 cup dairy sour cream
2 tablespoons grated Parmesan cheese

Drain crab and slice into chunks. Arrange cooked broccoli in bottom of shallow casserole or individual ramekins. Top with crab, reserving some pieces for garnish. Combine soup with sour cream and cheese. Spoon over crab. Garnish with reserved pieces of crab. Bake at 350 degrees for 20 minutes. Makes 6 servings.

Favorite Recipe With Chili Twist

There's a "chili" twist to this favorite macaroni and cheese recipe. It's not only cool breezes that make hearty appetites call for Chili Cheese Macaroni, it's also the spicy pungent flavor of chili powder that's a perfect companion for a nutritious cream sauce.

Add new and exciting airs to macaroni and cheese by topping it with your favorite meat. Spiced luncheon meat and smoked pork butt are fine choices, or add slices left from yesterday's roast. Add buttered beans or broccoli to the menu, a salad of mixed greens, milk for the entire family, and canned pears for dessert... an economical and nutritious meal for the family to enjoy.

Chili Cheese Macaroni
1 pkg. (7 oz.) elbow macaroni
1/2 cup butter
1/2 cup flour
2 cups (1/2 lb.) shredded sharp American cheese
1/2 cup chili sauce

1 teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons chili powder
Dash hot pepper sauce
3 tablespoons minced chives or onion
1/2 cup sliced stuffed olives

Cook macaroni according to package directions; drain well. Melt butter in saucepan over low heat; blend in flour. Add milk, stirring constantly. Cook and stir until sauce is smooth and thickened. Add cheese and stir until melted. Add chili sauce, salt, chili powder and hot pepper sauce. Combine sauce with chives, olives and macaroni. Pour into a lightly-buttered 2 1/2-quart casserole. Bake in moderate oven, 350°, 30 to 45 minutes or until hot and bubbling. Top with slices of browned Canadian bacon, spiced ham, or cooked pork butt. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

BEEF IN A PUMPKIN

Beef Costumed For Hallowe'en

All done up in a shiny orange pumpkin, lean ground California beef is attractively costumed for Halloween dinner. It will surprise little ghosts and big goblins alike — a sure treat for the cook too!

Choose your pumpkin, but make it small and well rounded. Scrape out the seeds; then simmer it until almost tender. For this occasion ground California beef treats itself to some very delicious accents of chopped onion, red and green pepper and pitted ripe olives. This juicy beef filling is agreeably delicious with the squash-like flavor of the pumpkin. Spoon it into the pumpkin and top with lid. For a shiny glaze, brush the pumpkin with oil and bake.

This colorful beef entree makes a smashing dish to serve for late fall suppers. In itself, Beef In A Pumpkin makes quite an attractive centerpiece for the dining table. Serve it often during the pumpkin season.

CALIFORNIA BEEF IN A PUMPKIN

1 small pumpkin (about 4 pounds)
 Salted water
 1 pound lean ground California beef
 1 cup chopped onion
 Cooking oil
 1-3 cup chopped red pepper
 1-3 cup chopped green pepper
 1 minced clove garlic
 1 teaspoon salt
 1/4 teaspoon thyme
 1/4 teaspoon pepper
 1 (7 1/2-ounce) can pitted California ripe olives
 1 (8-ounce) can tomato sauce
 2 beaten eggs
 Cut top from pumpkin and scrape out seeds and fibers. Simmer in salted water to cover until almost tender, about 20 to 25 minutes. Meanwhile, brown beef and onion in 1 tablespoon oil. Add red and green pepper and garlic. Cook a minute longer. Remove from heat and stir in all remaining ingredients. Spoon into drained, parboiled pumpkin and place lid on top. Brush pumpkin with oil. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) about one hour. Let stand about 10 minutes, then cut into wedges to serve. Makes about eight servings.

Quick Meal For Supper

In a pinch for a quickie supper? Go to the pantry shelves for ingredients to make Tamale Stew. In large sauce pan combine two cans (8 ounces each) tomato sauce with onions; one can (15 ounces) tamales, parboiled removed and cut in one-inch pieces; one can (15 ounces) chili con carne with beans; one can (12 ounces) whole kernel corn; and one cup water. Simmer, covered, 15 minutes. Sprinkle with 1/4 cup shredded Cheddar cheese. Makes four to six servings.

Try Cherry Mold If Entertaining

If you are looking for a certain something special to serve for any entertaining event, try this recipe for Princess Cherry Mold. It is as once "a thing of beauty and a joy to eat." The combination of fruit cocktail and cherry flavored gelatin makes a good flavor start, and the embellishing flavors of cream cheese, salad dressing, nuts and maraschino cherries change this into a flavor treat that will surely earn you the compliments of your guests. You'll like the ease of preparation, too. It only takes minutes to prepare for chilling, and when you unmold this beauty you'll want to make it again and again. The topping of Miracle Whip Salad Dressing adds the last and perfect flavor touch.

Princess Cherry Mold

2 3-oz. pkgs. cherry flavored gelatin
 2 cups boiling water
 1 cup cold water
 1/2 cup syrup from fruit cocktail
 2 cups (1-lb. can) fruit cocktail, drained
 Miracle-Whip Salad Dressing
 1 8-oz. pkg. Philadelphia Brand Cream Cheese
 1/2 cup chopped maraschino cherries
 1/2 cup chopped nuts

Dissolve cherry gelatin in boiling water; add cold water and syrup. Chill until slightly thickened; fold in fruit cocktail. Pour 1 1/2 cups gelatin mixture in 1 1/2-quart mold; chill until firm. Gradually add 1/2 cup salad dressing to softened cream cheese, mixing until well blended. Stir in cherries and nuts; spread over molded gelatin layer. Chill. Pour remaining gelatin mixture over cream cheese layer; chill until firm. Unmold; top with additional salad dressing. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Plan Submitted BART Extension To SF Airport

By LIN DAY

A plan to extend Bay Area Rapid Transit District system through Daly City to the International Airport, with several alternate routes offered, was submitted to a joint informational meeting of the San Francisco Public Utilities Commission, San Mateo County Supervisors and various city representatives yesterday.

Cost of the project ranged from $60 million to $140 million, depending on which route was acceptable and on whether or not stations were erected for commuters along the way.

Those presenting the plan made it clear they preferred "Plan C," with four transit stations, the southernmost of which, across Bayshore from the airport, would tap the parking resources of a large, airport-owned tract of land, and provide commuters with access to the entire Bay Area Rapid Transit complex at the basic transit rate, plus parking fees.

The continuation of this line across Bayshore and right through the middle of the planned eight-lane vehicular access and egress to the airport, would carry BARTD trains into the airport parking center, on a projected sixth level.

Those using it would pay an additional surcharge as they left the platform and would be able to then take one of the passenger-moving corridors which are to be built at the seventh level, spreading out to airport terminals like the spokes of a wheel.

Airport baggage would be checked out on the sixth level platform; an escalator there would deposit the out-going passenger at the "people mover system" hub. Or, the passengers can stay in the building and "enjoy a restaurant, cocktail lounge or 150-foot-high observation deck."

The BART extension would start at Knowles Avenue, as planned in the West Bay Rapid Transit study, and use about 7,000 feet of the Southern Pacific branch line right-of-way in the vicinity of A Street in Daly City.

The alignment would then cross about 1,700 feet of privately owned land before entering the median strip of El Camino Real. It would follow the median to the intersection with Mission Road.

Here the line would cross about a half mile of privately held land to reach the Old Market Street Railway right-of-way, which is now owned by San Francisco.

From this point on to the airport, the right-of-way is generally open. It is approximately 60-feet wide except for some infringements caused by minor private improvements and local street-widening programs. (BART trunk line facilities need 50 feet. "Park development" is hinted for the additional ten feet.)

The old trolley right-of-way brings the line up to the airport property, a tract about a mile long between the old rail line and the Bayshore. At San Felipe, under Plan C, a station would be constructed; and this would for the time become the main southern rapid transit terminus.

From the station, the transit system would curve in through the new access complex (four ingoing and four outgoing traffic lanes) to terminate in the parking center.

Design is for up to ten passenger cars to be able to use the arrival platform, although only four are presently contemplated.

Plan C would cost, the group was informed about $90 million, or about $60 million if the four stations were not included.

Other plans, thought less acceptable and much more expensive in most cases, included terminating at the San Felipe station, with bus feeder connections to the airport, and various other routes taking off at different points to the airport.

Plan A, for example, would leave the Market Street right of way at Chestnut Street in South San Francisco, follow Colma Creek to the east side of south Airport Boulevard, and then continue along the east side of the boulevard past airline maintenance facilities.

The line would be overhead up to this point, and then change to subway for a mile to the airport terminal. It could be continued south and across the Bayshore Freeway to merge with the Market Street right of way near Millbrae Avenue, if the system moved on south.

Plan B would leave the railway right of way in south San Bruno about two miles from Chestnut Street. It would go over the Southern Pacific, and go subway under the freeway.

Plan C leaves the Market Street right of way a half mile south of where Plan B would leave it, and would cross above the Southern Pacific main line in the vicinity of San Felipe Avenue in San Bruno.

It could either be above grade or below grade crossing the airport property, Bayshore and airport entrance roadway interchange.

A fourth plan, "D," would involve stopping the line at San Felipe Avenue and use of a shuttle system of buses.

While reception to the plans was generally warm, Daly City reserved its opinion until it had studied the proposals, and two San Mateo County supervisors both indicated they were going to look very carefully into who was going to pay what.

Officials made it clear that: 1. All they are asking for now is a joint-powers study to be set up.

2. That becoming involved with the cost of the new venture will not involve San Mateo County with the cost of the existing BART structures — that is, it will not be retroactive.

3. That Federal money should be available for up to two thirds of the study cost, and perhaps a considerable portion of the entire program.

They also pointed out that Airport vehicular access could reach 24 million a year passenger saturation as early as the mid 1970's. That number of airport passengers a year is about double those of today.

Additionally, as they saw the figures, the airport transit line should net a tidy $5 million a year which could enable not only easy operation but also full amortization in 20 years from revenues.

Supervisors were dubious about some points. Bob St. Clair wondered about the overhead structures mentioned. And Fitzgerald was curious about the financing.

The San Francisco representatives made it clear they would have difficulty getting Department of Transportation funds or interest unless San Mateo County joined in promoting the proposal.

For this reason, the joint-powers agreement (San Francisco, San Mateo County and BART) was considered very essential. And with potentials that new bills at the Federal level might make large sums of money available for such airport transit development, it was emphasized that getting a plan ready quickly so that it could be dropped in the hopper at an early day, was an urgent necessity.

As a matter of fact, it was pointed out San Francisco and its airport transportation problem has been used as a national example of the need for such assistance.

'Zodiac' Calls - Rendezvous In D.C. Fails

By FRANK LAPIERRE

A man claiming to be the "Zodiac killer" responsible for the slayings of at least five persons in the Bay Area failed to keep a promised appointment with attorney Melvin Belli in Daly City last Wednesday.

Belli, accompanied by television talk show personality Jim Dunbar, waited patiently for more than an hour in front of the St. Vincent de Paul thrift shop in the 6800 block of Mission Street after the killer pleaded with the famous lawyer for help.

Tuesday night, Dunbar, star of the "A.M." show, telecast over channel seven each weekday morning, was contacted by a San Francisco homicide department officer who said a man claiming to be "Zodiac" would contact the station the following morning.

The caller wanted to talk with either Belli or F. Lee Bailey. He told police he wanted immunity from the death penalty.

At exactly 7 a.m. the man called the station and asked Belli to help him. The attorney offered aid "free of any charges" and also pledged to contact San Francisco District Attorney John Jay Fardon on behalf of Zodiac.

After calling the station some 15 times over a period of more than two hours the suspected killer finally said to Belli "children... kill" and hung up for the last time.

But not before making a 10 a.m. appointment to meet with the attorney.

Belli finally gave up his doorway vigil at 11:25 a.m. and returned to his downtown San Francisco office to await any further contact with the killer.

There was little doubt in Belli's mind that the man who called the station and pleaded with him for help was "mixed up... scary," Belli told The Times at the scene of the scheduled meeting.

"The man I talked to (on TV) was very sick and needed help. I promised that help... and I intend to keep my promise," Belli said.

Daly City police chief Roland Petrocelli said he was of the opinion the caller was from this North County city.

Asked what he would do if the suspected killer had showed up on schedule, Petrocelli said simply: "I'd arrest him."

To his knowledge there were no promises made to Zodiac that he was immune from arrest during the meeting, Petrocelli said after talking the matter over with Belli and Dunbar.

Police said the man who called himself Zodiac chose Daly City for the meeting place because it was neutral ground and he was familiar with the area.

S.S.F. Cubs Hold First Fall Meet

The first fall meeting of South San Francisco Cub Scout Pack 79 took place at Avalon School recently, with the graduating Webelos den conducting the flag ceremony. Cubmaster William Decker welcomed the Cubs and their families to another busy year of cubbing. A dinner badge was given to Willy Seekamp and Joseph Desira was awarded the assistant dinner badge.

Craftsman badges were earned by Eric Seubert, Peter Griffin, Steve Saunders, Steve Davison, Steve Lynch, Mark Kerran, Robert Bohnen, and Bobby Schumann.

At an impressive ceremony around the campfire Cubmaster Decker, Assistant Cubmaster Al Seubert, and Webelos Leader Ed Seekamp reviewed the long path from Bobcat to this graduation of the following Webelos: Eric Seubert, Steve Saunders, Steve Davison, Steve Lynch, Mark Kerran, Rob Bohnen and Bobby Schumann. The boys were welcomed into Boy Scout activities by John Welti, Scoutmaster of Troop 70, and Jim DeHart and Edward Seekamp, representatives of the boys of the troop.

The announcement was made of the Father-Son campout at the San Mateo Memorial Park campgrounds. Each cub was urged to be an active recruiter for the Pack to bring new members into scouting.

It was with deep regret that the boys and parents heard that the Deckers would be moving out of the area shortly.

Daly City Has Jitters Over Zodiac Calls

Daly City police were busy well into the night soothing and comforting residents concerned about the Zodiac killer's failure to make Wednesday's rendezvous.

Rumors were rife. By 3:30 p.m. the police had received 358 calls, and Lt. Tom Culley said the calls continued on into the night, likely doubling that number.

"There were a lot of disturbed people," said Culley. The calls were mainly from housewives concerned about their children. Police also received calls from children and school principals, in addition to the average citizen.

"We are concentrating patrols in and around the city's schools," said Culley in an effort to calm frayed nerves. "We're watching the school bus stops, and each and every lead indicating strange behavior relative to the case will be checked out."

One such citizen's report Wednesday had the police making a wide sweep of a Mission Street rooftop. The source of the report was unknown and was at least half an hour old when received by the police.

Still, they followed it up unsuccessfully, as Lt. Culley indicated they would any pertinent incident.

A. M. Lumley New Director For Pageant

The Pacifica Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors, at a special meeting recently, accepted with regret the resignation of Stan Vander Hule as executive director of the Miss Pacifica Pageant.

Vander Hule is now a deputy field director of Miss California Pageant, northern California jurisdiction.

There are 12 pageants in the jurisdiction.

At Vander Hule's recommendation, the Board of Directors appointed Aubrey M. Lumley, III as his successor. Vander Hule will act as an advisor to the Miss Pacifica Pageant.

Lumley is 28 years old, a bachelor and native of Porterville. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey M. Lumley, Jr. who reside in Porterville. His father is a past mayor and now city councilman for his sixteenth consecutive year.

Aubrey has been in Pacifica since July, 1966 and settled here because of interest in the Pacifica Spindrift Players.

He is now employed by American Forest Products Corporation in San Francisco as assistant general credit manager.

He holds a Bachelor of Science Degree in business Administration and Finance from San Francisco State; a Master's Degree in Credit Management, New York Institute of Credit and is on the faculty of U.C. extension center in San Francisco.

Diversion For Burglar

The Zodiac incident in Daly City yesterday apparently served as a sufficient diversion for a burglar.

Gene Almo, 56, of 670 Hillside Blvd., told police that sometime between 2 and 3:30 p.m. someone forced their way into his apartment.

Reported missing was a console television, a stereo amplifier and a fender guitar.

new Guide to Entertaining suggests you "sound the horn instead of the dinner bell and let your guests help themselves to this mobile menu." Precooked dishes that need only be reheated, on a portable grill and refrigerated foods that can be kept cool and crisp are perfect ingredients for this transportable picnic.

Country-style Barbecue Ribs precooked by gentle simmering, cooled, then reheated; Caraway Skillet Slaw tossed with hot bacon dressing just before serving; Quick Poppy-onion Loaf made from refrigerated dinner rolls; and Chocolate Daisy Cupcakes. Other all-time picnic favorites for extras are a pot of baked beans to reheat while ribs are heating, chilled relishes and hot coffee. To save grill space bring along flame-heated chafing dishes and vacuum containers.

Plan your preparation so that foods can be served at their tastiest temperatures and bring sturdy disposable eating equipment. For comfort camp stools or lawn chairs may be taken along for the ride, too.

CARAWAY SKILLET SLAW

1/2 cup vinegar
2 tablespoons sliced green onion
1 teaspoon caraway seed
1 tablespoon brown sugar

Add remaining ingredients and 1/2 teaspoon salt. Bring to boiling. Drain and chill (see note), or carry to site hot. Grill over medium coals about 11 minutes on each side (see note), brushing with sauce until well coated. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Annual Male Call for National Amateur Cooking Championship - Dec. Deadline

The annual male culinary call has been issued for the Tenth U.S. Men's Amateur Cooking Championship.

If past performance is any indication, more than 400,000 amateur male cooks will enter the competition, sponsored by the Potato Chip Institute International. More than 3,000,000 entries have been received since the competition was launched in 1961, and the nine previous winners have ranged from a stock clerk to a missile specialist.

Rules for the competition are simple: Any male amateur cook may enter the championship by sending in original recipes of one or more main dishes using potato chips as an ingredient. No box tops, labels or coupons are needed in submitting recipes. Professional chefs may not enter.

Cash prizes will total $2,350, according to Harvey F. Noss Sr., executive vice president of the Potato Chip Institute International. First prize is $1,000, second place winner gets $750, third place $400, and fourth place $200. All four finalists will be awarded a week's all-expense paid vacation for two persons at the Shamrock Hotel in Houston, Tex., where the final cook-off will be held.

All recipes submitted in the championship are judged by a group of outstanding women cooking authorities who will select champions from 50 states and the District of Columbia.

From these 51 men, four region-crowned, representing the North, South, East and West.

The four will journey to Houston for the championship cook-off to be judged by a panel of prominent food authorities.

Contest deadline is December 1, 1969. Each recipe should be put on a separate sheet of paper, with the name and address of the entrant. Entries should be sent to the U.S. Men's Amateur Cooking Championship, 2630 Payne Avenue, Cleveland, Ohio 44114.

Here is a sample of a regional prize winning recipe from the 1968-69 competition:

BRIDES BEEF WELLINGTON
2 cups potato chips
1/2 cup chopped onion
2 lb. chopped meat loaf

mix from butcher, or make your own with 1 1/2 pound beef, 1/4 pound veal and 1/4 pound pork, mixed well together.

1 cup milk
1 egg
1/4 teaspoon nutmeg
1/4 teaspoon allspice
Salt and Pepper to taste
Dampen potato chips in milk until soft.

Press meat mixture into a greased loaf pan and then slide out so that it will retain its shape. Regrease pan and line all sides with softened potato chips. Spread sides of meat mixture with softened liver pate and insert meat into pan inside of potato chip lining. Brush top of loaf with beaten egg and cover top of loaf with milk softened potato chips, also. Bake for 1 hour at 325 degrees.

Spanish Rice With Sausage

This colorful version of Spanish rice features Italian sausage and cheese. In skillet brown 1/2 pound mild Italian sausage (casing removed) with 1/2 cup chopped green pepper and 1/2 cup chopped onion. Pour off fat. Stir in two cans (8 ounces each) tomato sauce with cheese, 1 1/2 cups water, one cup regular uncooked rice; simmer 45 minutes, stirring occasionally. Sprinkle with 1/2 cup grated Parmesan cheese. Makes four to six servings.

Polish Soup Could Be Memorable

The Polish people put everything into the soup — and it turns out to be just marvelous. Here's a Balkan stew-soup that makes a whole supper and a memorable one.

Polish Cabbage Soup
Pumpernickel Bread
Muenster Cheese
Dill Pickles

'Fair Estimate' Of Troubles The 49ers Have Got

By LE PACINI

IF THE 49ers have anything to look forward to, it's their move to Candlestick, which gives you a fair estimate of the kind of troubles they've got.

Speaking to that point — or, more accurately, writing to that point — is our inveterate pen pal, J. Lamar Buq-Bug. J. Lamar sends us an article dealing with the refurbishing of Candlestick, appropriately underlined and accompanied by some comments which we find interesting. Space will not allow our reprinting of the article to which J. Lamar refers, but you can take our word for it that all of his references and inferences are apparently accurate.

"Sir: I have read the enclosed clipping several times but there seems to be something very confusing about it. On the one hand they say that the winds will be just as bad with the addition of the new seating areas (which were, by the way, claimed to be an absolutely foolproof way of solving the wind problem.)

"Now, on the other hand, they say that with the new sections removed and the stadium in its present state, the wind problem will have 'some improvement.' Now it follows that if the new seating areas increase the wind problem, and the problem can be it to the present state, just where the Hell is the improvement coming from? Are they going to make the wind problem worse and then abate it back to its present intolerable condition?

"Something smells here, and I think that in the 'improvement' to the ballpark they are only going to 'perpetuate a mediocrity' to use the Mayor's words.

"WHAT IS APPARENT, at least from reading this newspaper story, is that there never was any deliberate attempt to get rid of the wind problem at Candlestick. It was hoped, apparently, that the resulting changes would bring about a relief, but any such relief would only be fortuitous, and not the result of planning.

"Do you think it would be possible to find out how many thousands (perhaps millions) have been spent for wind studies at Candlestick? Not ONE SINGLE CHANGE was ever made in the ballpark as a result of those wind studies. The money spent on them might have gone to bring about some method of abating the typhoon which blows through there. . . .

We'll look into that, J. Lamar.

NO MATTER HOW MUCH PEOPLE like J. Lamar agonize over this subject, it's obvious that changing stadiums isn't going to improve the 49ers. Nor will it improve the fans.

There have been a lot of things wrong with the 49ers over the years, but with few exceptions, one of them hasn't been offense.

Remember 1948, when the 49ers set an all-time rushing record of 3,663 yards (in 12 games), averaged 6.07 yards per carry per man, and tallied 35 TD's rushing? How about 1954, when Joe Perry and John Henry Johnson finished one-two in the NFL in rushing, with 1049 yards and a 6.1 average and 681 and 533, respectively, and Hugh McElhenny, hurt for half a season, finished eighth and averaged eight yards a carry?

There were the great passing years, too, of Y. A. Tittle and John Brodie (He and his teammates devastated several all-time NFL records in 1965), and even in '48, the year of the great running team, Frankie Albert threw more touchdown passes than any quarterback in the All American Conference.

TWO OF THE TOP FIVE players in combined lifetime net yardage are ex-49ers — McElhenny (4th) and Perry (5th). Four of the top 20 all-time ground gainers are ex-49ers — Perry (2nd), McElhenny (9th), John David Crow (13th) and J. D. Smith (14th).

And yet the 49ers have never won a divisional title. One of the basic reasons is obvious. They have too often been plagued with weak defenses, and occasionally with faulty handling of personnel.

Who do you blame? If you want to know the MAIN people to blame, read our November article in San Francisco Magazine. But one of the factions you have to blame is the fans, who have allowed it all to take place.

How do we come to the conclusion? Consider, for instance, that when their three all-time greats, Perry, Tittle and McElhenny all left in 1969 after the 49ers had compiled a 7-5 record and a second place finish, many fans said that they'd never show up at Kezar again.

But the next year, with the Big Three gone, a 7-6-1 record and a fifth place finish, home attendance increased by 78,000. Point two: The best 49er attendance marks have correlated with their best or most unique offensive teams, regardless of their league standing.

Point three: Fans tend to get what they pay for.

BUT ENOUGH OF THAT NONSENSE. Back to baseball (why not? Football cuts into baseball's season).

What we thought we'd do here is clean off our desk. We have these statistics lying around from a couple of weeks ago, so in the interests of neatness, here they are:

For one reason or another we became enthralled with strikeouts stats toward the end of the baseball season and discovered interesting things, like, Sandy Koufax struck out 300 or more men during a single season on three different occasions. Nobody else, not Walter Johnson or Bobby Feller or any of the great strikeout pitchers ever accomplished that feat more than once.

For a single season strikeout average, however, Cleveland's Sam McDowell holds the record for starting pitchers. In 1965 Sam K'd an average of 10.71 men per game. Of the 10 top single season strikeout ratios, Sam holds three of the best. Guess who holds four of the top 10, Sandy Koufax. Herb Score, has two of the top 10, Clancy's Jim Maloney one.

Koufax also holds the best lifetime K-per game average, as he whiffed an average of 9.28 per every nine innings pitched during his career. Surprisingly, Feller stands only 22nd on the list of best all-time career records for strikeouts per nine innings. Perhaps more surprising, Ray Sadecki is 25th. What is startling is that Walter Johnson doesn't even make the top 25, nor does Lefty Grove. But we save the most fantastic surprise for last. Stu Miller, on that list, stands number 21.

Other interesting stats were these: Former Yankee relief pitcher Ryn Duren, the blind strikeout machine, in 1955 allowed only 4.58 hits per every nine innings he pitched — a big league record. And in 1953, another Yankee reliever and occasional starter, Tom Morgan, gave up just 0.30 walks per every nine innings — another record.

NOW THAT THE METS are World's champions, we wonder what Juan Marichal's detractors are going to say about him never being able to beat the really tough teams. Or aren't you aware of Marichal's record against the Mets?

LOCAL TAG END: Westmoor back Jim Lewis, brother of 49er back Gary Lewis, is second in rushing and seventh in scoring among all of Northern California's prep runners. At this writing, he's gained 848 yards in 110 carries and has scored 12 TD's and six extra points. He recently broke a single game NPL rushing record held by South San Francisco's Greg Jones (now, of course, UCLA's sparkplug), when he gained 275 yards in 12 carries.

LIESKE SCORES FOUR T.D.'S Westmoor Swamps Jeff, 39-6

That highly movable object will meet the irresistible force next Friday and the din might be heard throughout the county.

That's when the Jim Lewis-led Westmoor Rams take on the defense-minded El Camino Colts in a match that will decide if the North Peninsula League title is to be tied for or won outright.

Both factions prepped for that contest in high fashion Friday as the Colts threw up their third league shutout, 26-0, over Oceana while Westmoor routed Jefferson, 93-6.

Lewis came several steps closer to the NPL rushing record of 1,247 yards for one season (held by Greg Jones) when he carried the ball 17 times for 180 yards and two touchdowns. He now has 1,022 yards and 14 touchdowns with two games to go.

The top individual performer, though, in this one was fullback Al Lieske, who scored four touchdowns and totaled 90 yards. That backfield duo, along with quarterback Mike Swallow's aerials, was the majority of the Ram offense that ran up 33 points by halftime.

The win could have been costly, however, as sophomore end Bob McLennon, the best-looking underclassman in the area, was blindsided after making a leaping catch in the second period with a badly twisted knee. It isn't known at this time just how long he will be lost to the Rams.

Jefferson coach Gary Leahy made the game interesting with his shotgun, single-wing and double-slot formations but quarterback Tony Moss, who scored the only Jeff td with 45 seconds left in the game, could get little help from his offensive line.

The Colt defense has allowed just six points in four NPL games (EC lost to SSF, 6-0) and the only question now is if the Colts are big enough to stop Lewis-Lieske & Co.

Art Messer and Mark Lackner keyed the Colt defense that stopped Oceana to no first downs in the first half and just one yard total rushing. Lackner scored the third Colt touchdown when he intercepted a pass on the 30 and ran in from there.

Fullback Dennis Neil popped over the first two scores on identical one-yard plunges while quarterback Joe Shannon hit end Mark Canavan from the 49 for the final score, all before intermission.

T.N., Half Moon Bay Battle To Deadlock

If anyone doubts the importance of the extra point, they need only check the score of Friday's Terra Nova-Oceana football game.

Although Terra Nova won the battle of statistics, the visiting Cougars gained a tie with 40 seconds remaining in the game when quarterback Jim Emery hit Jerry Heuman with a five-yard scoring aerial. However, Half Moon Bay's bid for an upset victory was thwarted when Emery was stopped short of the goal line on the conversion try.

Half Moon Bay's tying tally was set up when Cougar lineman Burnett Silveria broke through and blocked a Tiger punt, enabling HMB to take over on the Terra Nova 20-yard line.

Capuchino Unit Defeats S.S.F.

By JERRY LITTELL

Post Sports Writer

Capuchino's high-spirited Mustangs have a polished passing attack, a more-than-adequate running game and a solid defense—more than enough to be a consistent winner. But when rookie coach Vince Marchi throws caution to the wind with unorthodox football maneuvers the Mid-Peninsula League leaders appear unbeatable.

dropped two safeties back to receive the punt. But Marchi, showing amazing and unusual faith in his offense, called for a pass play. Too late the deep safeties realized what was happening. As they shot upfield to defend against the play they ran right by end Jim Geyer who took a Keith Hernandez pass over the middle on the 40 and raced ahead of the now frantic secondary for the winning points.

The Tigers forged ahead, 12-6, moments later when Half Moon Bay fumbled the ensuing kickoff on the 30-yard line and Rick Holley scored a one-yard td four plays later.

Stymied for three quarters by a stubborn South San Francisco defense, the Mustangs caught the opposition napping on just one play and it was enough to start them on the road to a 12-0 blanking of the once-powerful Warrior squad.

After 42 minutes of scoreless football on both sides the Mustangs appeared stopped again by a fourth down and 23 yards to go for a first down on the 50-yard line. Apparently the Warriors also thought so as they

Half Moon Bay tied it up, 12-12, when Emery passed 13 yards to end Scott Heaslett in the third period. Bud Gonzalez garnered the final score for Terra Nova when he recovered Holley's fumble in the end zone, making it 18-12.

Both defenses shared moments of brilliance. Capuchino's mainstays were linebacker Craig Dalzele and tackle Dan Meschi, dalzele, who didn't offense because of a bruised kidney, gave a few bruises on his own sticking his head in on numerous tackles and helped stop the Warrior running game at just 83 yards.

The final score came when Cap was trying to run out the clock. Hernandez, who was keeping the ball tucked in tight, busted through the center for a 10-yard score with just four seconds left.

S.S.F. Offers Wrestling Classes Free

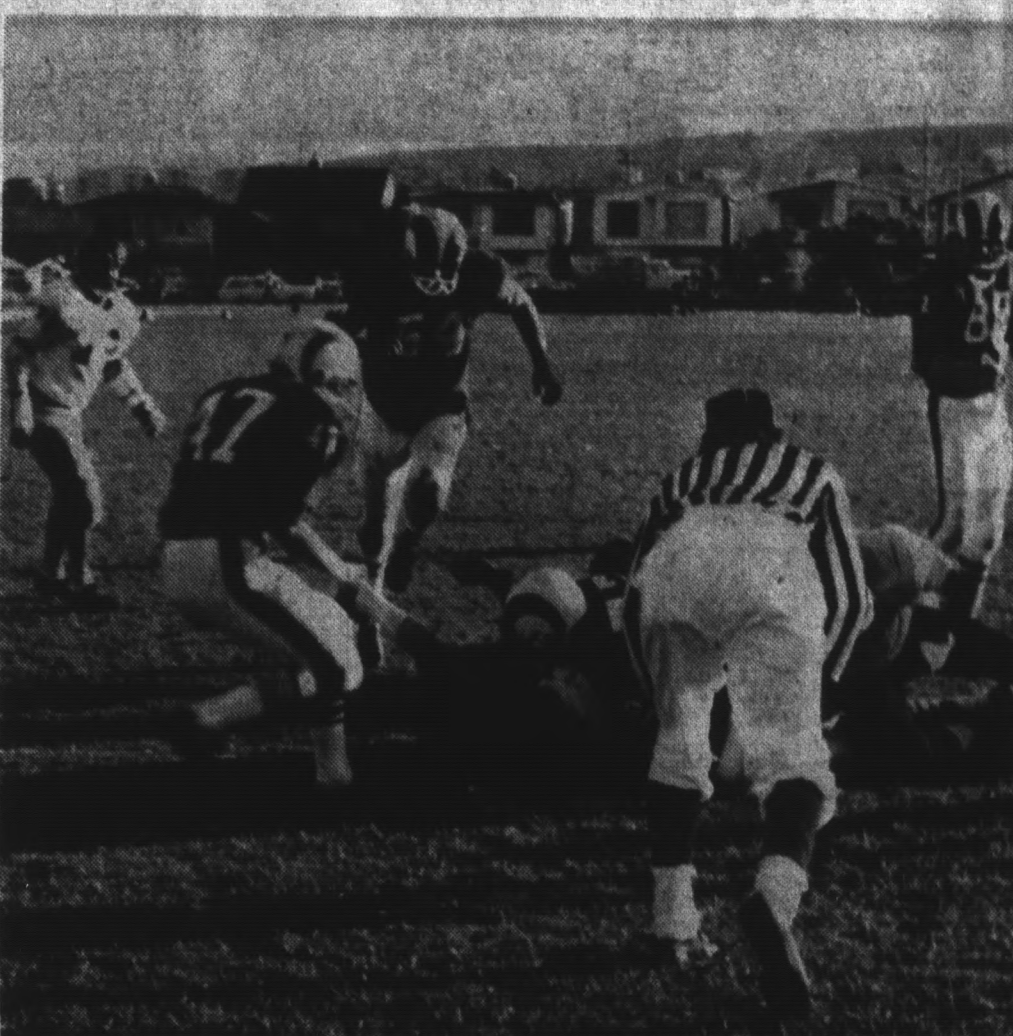

There are still openings for fifth to eighth grade boys in the free wrestling workouts being offered at the El Camino High School wrestling room each Saturday, starting at 10 a.m.

The young athletes will be taught wrestling fundamentals by El Camino High School coach Mike Heffernan, Lee Allen of Skyline College and Al Abraham of San Francisco State.

Pacifica Names New Coordinator

Appointment of Ralph Rutley, 824 Alameda de las Pulgas, Belmont, to the position of youth services coordinator for the city of Pacifica was announced today by County Supervisor Jean Fassler, chairman of the board of directors of the Pacific Youth Service Bureau.

Rutley, 33, received a bachelor's degree from San Francisco State College and a graduate degree in religion and pastoral counseling from the Berkeley Baptist Divinity School. He is a licensed marital counselor.

A former Marine Corps captain, Rutley was assistant minister of the First Baptist Church in Pacific in 1963 and 1964. He was minister of Christian Layman Church in Berkeley from 1964 to 1966 and has been employed as a probation officer by the San Mateo County Probation Department since then. His assignment during the past three years has been the supervision of children in foster homes in the Pacifica area.

Rutley's primary responsibility, Mrs. Fassler said, will be the administration of the Pacifica Youth Service Bureau, an agency that will deal with delinquent children, as well as those showing a potential for delinquency, and attempt to save them from becoming involved in the juvenile court system.

Police said someone broke into the Continental Delight, 422 San Mateo Avenue, between 7:30 p.m. Wednesday and 6:40 a.m. Thursday. Entrance was made through an unlocked rear window.

It's doubtful he's a coin collector, but a thief in San Bruno who escaped with $50 in pennies did leave a camera and radio behind.

Police said someone broke into the Continental Delight, 422 San Mateo Avenue, between 7:30 p.m. Wednesday and 6:40 a.m. Thursday. Entrance was made through an unlocked rear window.

Pacifican Receives Honorary Award

That Pacifica's Chief Building last week. In making known the award, R. C. Keyes, director of Community Development for the City of Pacifica, noted: "It is nice to have one of our Ventilation and Refrigeration Officials, Inc., it was announced this field. His capability is quite obvious to those of us who work with him, and, budgetwise, it means neither he nor the city needs to pay annual dues to belong to that organization as long as Phil is with us."
